Hoffa Can't Believe He Was Convicted

By GAVIN SCOTT

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—James R. Hoffa, president of the nation's largest labor union, stared in grim disbelief Wednesday when he heard himself declared guilty of trying to rig a federal court jury.

It was his first conviction in four trials.

"We will appeal," Hoffa told newsmen.

His lawyers said motions for a new trial would be filed with U.S. Dist. Judge Frank Wilson within five days.

The conviction could mean 10 years in prison and a $10,000 fine for Hoffa, head of the Teamsters Union.

The verdict brought congratulations to the prosecutors from Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy—long accused by Hoffa of waging a vendetta against him.

Kennedy, once called a "punk kid" by Hoffa, just smiled when asked for his reaction to the verdict. Pressed by Washington newsmen for a statement, he would say only that "it was in the hands of the jury and the jury has spoken."

Hoffa told newsmen that "despite what you think" he has no intention of relinquishing the presidency of the Teamsters, an independent union with 1.7 million members.

"I can rest assured of one thing," he said, "that the membership will be behind Hoffa in the fight all the way."

Initial reaction from members of Hoffa's home local in Detroit was unanimously in his favor.

Hoffa, 51, who is scheduled to go on trial April 27 in Chicago on charges of misusing $20 million in union pension funds, became president of the Teamsters after his predecessor, Dave Beck, went to prison for income tax fraud.

Hoffa's bond was raised from $10,000 to $75,000 by Wilson. Smaller bonds were required of the three men convicted with them of attempting to bribe the jury that heard Hoffa's 1962 conspiracy trial at Nashville. That trial ended when the jury could not agree on a verdict.

The jury found that:

1. Hoffa, Larry Campbell of Detroit and Thomas E. Parks of Nashville sought to offer $10,000 to the son of a juror in the Nashville trial.

2. Hoffa and Ewing King, former Nashville Teamsters president, tried to influence another juror by offering to help her husband get a promotion on the Tennessee Highway Patrol.

Campbell, a Teamsters business agent at Detroit, Parks and King face sentences of five years and fines of $5,000.

The jury of eight men and four women acquitted Hoffa and two businessmen on charges they offered "things of value" to a Nashville bar operator if he would try to contact members of the 1962 jury.

The businessmen were Nicholas J. Tweel of Huntington, W.Va., and Allen Dorfman of Chicago.

Oak Flooring Plant Burns at Delight

DELIGHT, Ark. (AP)—Fire destroyed the oak flooring plant of Delight's largest industry, Hays Brothers Forest Products, Inc., Wednesday night.

Mayor Lester Harris of Delight estimated the loss at $500,000. He said about one million board feet of finished lumber in a storage area was saved.

There was one minor injury. Harris said the fire started in the main electrical terminal in the one-story, block-long plant, which produced about 35,000 board feet of lumber daily.

About 50 firemen from Murfreesboro, Arkadelphia, Prescott, Antioch and Delight fought the fire.

Harris said a Methodist preacher who volunteered to help fight the fire suffered a minor burn on the arm.

HISTORIC PHOTO—This gripping and historic photo was taken by a pressure-resistant camera on the ocean bottom at a depth of 8,400 feet and shows what has been identified as the 20-foot-square plate from the bow of the nuclear submarine, the USS Thresher. The propeller-shaped line is a lighting fixture on the camera. The Thresher disappeared during a diving test in April, 1963, 220 miles off the New England Coast. One hundred and twenty nine men lost their lives in the disaster.

News of the School at Laneburg

On March 13, Friday night, there will be a Basketball Banquet sponsored by the P.T.A. Everyone is invited. The admission is $1.00 per person. There will be a full course meal and an entertaining program. It will be in the gym at the school. It begins at 7:30.

The tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grades visited South Central Electric Company. They provided the bus to go on and our lunch. They showed movies and we toured the building. Before we left we wrote an essay on what we learned. They gave a Soldering Gun to the boys who wrote the best essay and they were Johnny Richardson, Terrell Bullock, and Allen Hicks.

They gave a steam iron to the girls that wrote the best essay and they were Joyce Carlton, Melba Hunter, and Cedallia Dillard. We all had a very nice time and we all want to go back again soon.

The following ones made the Honor Roll for the fourth six weeks: Twelfth grade—William Lambert, Peggy Wesson, and Johnny Richardson.

Eleventh grade—Terrell Bullock, Joyce Carlton, Mark Lambert, Buddy Lee, Sue Spencer, and Dale Almond.

Tenth grade—Cedallia Dillard, Sue Almond, Harry Almond, and Allen Hicks.

Ninth grade—William Hunter, Eight grade—Marmy Bright, Danny Bullock, Barbara Hicks, and Rickey Purdie.

Seventh grade—None.

Another American Killed by Reds

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—American authorities reported today the death of a third U.S. Army officer in two days of the war against the Communist Viet Cong.

A spokesman said the American adviser was shot Wednesday in a skirmish 210 miles north of Saigon, near the intersecting borders of South Viet Nam, Cambodia and Laos.

He was the 115th American to die in combat since the U.S. buildup began in December 1961.

Youth Wanted His Pen Back

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—After Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller signed autographs in Kelly's drug store in Newport, N.H., one day last month, he apparently walked off with an employee's pen.

Michael Paul Towey, 15, wrote the governor, wished him well in the New Hampshire presidential primary and asked for his pen back.

Rockefeller admitted nothing in his reply: "I am extremely sorry to hear that your pen was inadvertently slipped into my pocket and am sending you under separate cover a new one to take its place."

State Will Get Warmer Weather

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Arkansas will get warmer weather Friday and over the weekend, but not until a wave of cold air leaves the state.

Skies cleared over most of the state today, bringing near freezing temperatures to the north portion and low readings in the mid to upper 30s elsewhere.

Temperatures were expected to plunge to the low to mid 20s tonight.

A possibility of showers and thundershowers during the weekend was forecast.

High temperatures Wednesday ranged from the low 40s to mid 70s as storm cells moved rapidly across the state.

The outlook today was a refreshing change from turbulence that resulted in eight deaths Tuesday night and Wednesday.

Lightning was blamed for a fire at Forrest City that killed seven persons, including six children.

A tornado struck near Magnolia, killing one and injuring six.

Heavy rains came to most sections of the state, and snow fell in Northwest Arkansas.

The violent weather was caused by unstable air moving from Gulf of Mexico, followed by a cold front, resulting in today's cooler outlook.

Bulletins

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara ordered today another cutback in the already skeletonized B70 long-range bomber program, announcing that only two instead of three test planes will be completed.

He said his action follows a comprehensive survey of the program and results, in part, from concern over continued slippage in the program.

He reported it is now 18 months behind schedule.

The announcement coincided with a McNamara news conference that promised a test of whether the administration can maintain the strict secrecy imposed on the project that developed another advanced aircraft, the A11.

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—President Johnson, en route to New York, landed at Newark Airport at 10:41 a.m. (EST) today when fog closed in New York City's airfields, Newark airport operations said.

$300 Million in Arkansas Taxes

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The state comptroller said Wednesday Arkansas will collect about $300 million in state and local taxes this year.

L. A. Mashburn estimated about $140 million will be spent on public education and another $100 million will go for state services.

He said county governments will get $31 million and municipalities $29 million.

Mashburn estimated in his annual report these collections by sources: Sales and use tax, $72.5 million; high taxes, $65 million; income tax, $25.5 million; alcohol and tobacco taxes $18 million; general taxes, $11 million and special taxes and fees, 12 million—for a total of $204 million.

County and city revenues and permits and fees will account for the remaining $96 million, he estimated.

Mashburn also said Arkansas will get about $100 million in federal grants this year.

MacArthur to Undergo Surgery

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur has "obstructive jaundice of unknown origin" and exploratory abdominal surgery will be performed Friday morning to try to determine the cause, Walter Reed Army Hospital announced today.

A statement from the hospital where the 84-year-old warrior has been undergoing tests since Monday, reported:

"Diagnostic tests on Gen. MacArthur have been completed. It has been determined that he has an obstructive jaundice of unknown origin.

"Exploratory surgery of the abdomen will be performed on Friday morning, March 6, at Walter Reed Army Hospital."

Guy Grigg Enters Co. Judge Race

Guy Grigg, well known Hope man, today announced his candidacy for the office of Hempstead County Judge.

This is his first race for political office and in making his announcement appealed to the citizenry for support in the Democratic primaries.

"I feel that I can render a service to the people of Hempstead County that heretofore has not been given, and if elected will do my best to carry out an honest and efficient administration," he said.

Mr. Grigg was born and reared in Louisiana, first came to Arkansas in 1933 as a special student at Magnolia A&M College, now Southern State, where he studied engineering and mechanical arts.

In 1935 he married Valdeine May of Bodcaw, also a student at Magnolia. In the early 40's he moved his family to Hope where they have continuously lived at 300 East 15th street. Their only daughter, Miss Jane Grigg, is a Ouachita College student.

In July of 1941, Mr. Grigg was one of the first men hired by the contractor to begin construction of the former Southwestern Proving Ground, in the capacity of building superintendent for buildings and roads.

After the close of the war, he was retained by U.S. Army Engineers to maintain the installation until its final disposal by the War Assets Administration. He helped secure the 755-acre airport and other properties for the City of Hope.

In 1949 Mr. Grigg became engaged as a building contractor, and two years later went into business for himself at Grigg's Decorators Supply, which he has owned and operated until the present time.

In regard to the office of County Judge, Mr. Grigg went on to say that "I feel I have sufficient knowledge, education and background to handle this office in a manner that will reflect credit on the citizens of this county, and therefore solicits the support of all qualified voters."

Mr. Grigg has long been active in civic and church affairs, and is a member of Hope's First Baptist Church. He concluded by saying that he would make an active campaign through the city and county.

King of Greece Is Near Death

ATHENS (AP)—King Paul of Greece clung to life today more than 12 hours after his doctors called his condition very grave.

A palace bulletin this morning said there was "no change" in the condition of the king, who collapsed five days ago with complications following an operation Feb. 21 for a stomach ulcer.

Reports circulated during the night that the 62-year-old monarch had gone into a coma.

Tornadoes in 6 States Kill 11, Hurt 40

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tornadoes and other violent weather killed 11 persons and injured about 40 in six Southern states.

The Weather Bureau said at least a dozen tornadoes were spawned as warm air from the Gulf of Mexico clashed with a cold front Wednesday.

Torrential rains accompanied many thunderstorms and the 24-hour rainfall in western Kentucky exceeded five inches.

Lightning struck a house at Forrest City, Ark., and started a fire in which seven died. Another Arkansas fatality was attributed to a tornado.

Two were killed in western Kentucky and another perished in Tennessee.

Damage from tornadoes was reported in Louisiana, Mississippi and Missouri, and wind damage to a lesser degree was reported in northwest Georgia.

A woman was killed when a tornado roared down onto the Beech Creek community near Magnolia, Ark. Six others were injured.

Another tornado lashed western Kentucky, killing two and injuring about 20. The twister hit near Hardin, near Kentucky Lake, dipped into the tiny community of Fairdealing and then struck Kirksey.

Some businesses were damaged, but most of the destruction was confined to homes in the area. The heavy rainfall included 7.7 inches at Paducah, 5.75 at Henderson—heaviest in 29 years, 5.25 at Owensboro, and 4.17 at Louisville.

The Tennessee Valley Authority power plant at Pickwick Dam was knocked out as a tornado whipped through Tennessee.

Mrs. Magdell Summers, about 45, was killed at her Springfield, Tenn., farm when a storm cellar caved in at her house.

The tornado at Pickwick demolished the main switchyard of the power house and knocked over main river crossing transmission lines.

Flood waters forced more than 100 persons from their homes in Mississippi. Tn-foot high waves pounded the Louisiana coast and winds jammed a cargo ship into a wharf at New Orleans, knocking down about 15 fence pilings.

Five school pupils were injured at Corinth, Miss., when a tornado ripped the roof from a high school.

Fire Guts Baldwin Firm Storage Bldg.

CINCINNATI (AP)—Fire wrecked the Baldwin Piano Company's seven-story storage plant Wednesday night but 300 firemen kept it from spreading to the company's main building.

The storage plant was in the process of being demolished. It was not connected to the eight-story main building.

Baldwin employees about 400 persons and is moving much of its operation to Greenwood, Miss., Conway and Fayetteville, Ark. Employees were told not to report for work today.

Wants Permanent Registration

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Committee on Voter Registration is pushing for a permanent voting registration system for Arkansas.

It is distributing 8,000 pieces of literature backing a bill proposed by Benton County Rep. Hardy W. Croxton.

The Legislative Council has endorsed an annual registration system, favored by Gov. Orval E. Faubus.

Croxton's bill would require persons to register in person. The council bill would let near relatives register for the voter.

The council, however, has not decided whether county clerks, assessors or sheriffs-collectors would register voters. Croxton's bill would give the job to the clerks.

Mrs. Turnage Heads Local Cancer Drive

Mrs. Dick Turnage, 322 North Elm St. Hope, will be the 1964 Cancer Crusade Director for Hempstead County, it was announced today by Dr. Joe H. Hardin, of Little Rock, President of the Arkansas Division of the American Cancer Society.

Mrs. Turnage attended a Pre-Crusade Planning meeting, Wednesday, February 19, held in Arkadelphia. The meeting was attended by representatives from a twelve County area.

The annual Cancer Crusade, a combination educational and fund-raising effort, will be held during the month of April. Funds raised will go to support the Society's three-fold program of Research, Education, and Service.

Every family called on during the Crusade will be given a pamphlet listing the 7 Danger Signals of Cancer and answering questions that may help save the life of a loved one from this disease that strikes 2 out of 3 families.

The meeting program included one of the Society's newest films, "PROGNOSIS: HOPE", a stirring story of a woman's successful recovery from cancer, through surgery, after her cancer was discovered "in time" during a routine check-up. This and other films are available from the library of the Cancer Society for showing to local groups.

Others who will have key roles in the Hempstead County Cancer Crusade are Mrs. Olen Purcell, Memorial Chairman, and Mrs. Carter Russell, Student Director.

Declares Ruby Meant to Fire Three Times

By RELMAN MORIN

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—A police officer today quoted Jack Ruby as saying within minutes after shooting Lee Harvey Oswald that "I intended to shoot him three times."

D. R. Archer testified at the 52-year-old Ruby's trial that the defendant came at Oswald—gun in hand—in the basement of Dallas police headquarters last Nov. 24.

Ruby was muttering unintelligible phrases but did call the accused presidential assassin a "son of a bitch," Archer added.

After the shooting, Archer said, "as we got him down on the floor, I heard him say, 'I hope I killed the son of a bitch.'"

Archer, questioned by Dist. Atty. Henry M. Wade, said that three to five minutes later, when he was inside the jail Ruby, he told the defendant, "I think you killed him."

"He said," Archer added, "I intended to shoot him three times."

Ruby, on trial for his life, is pleading temporary insanity. The defense claims Ruby was in a mental blackout when he shot Oswald and didn't know what he was doing.

Police Officer L. C. Graves, walking alongside Oswald when Ruby shot him, said he did not hear Ruby say he hoped Oswald died.

The other officer alongside Oswald, J. R. Leavelle, testified on Page Two

Teachers Are Attacked by N.Y. Pupils

NEW YORK (AP)—The president of the union which represents New York City public school teachers says there is an average of one attack a day by pupils on teachers and the Board of Education is hiding the violence behind "a black board curtain."

Charles Cogen, president of the AFL-CIO United Federation of Teachers, made the accusation Wednesday after the fourth attack in a week became public knowledge.

Cogen said he believes that "in many cases incidents are not reported, the teachers are intimidated and the principals are likewise discouraged from making reports."

A Board of Education spokesman declined to comment, but said Cogen's charges would be discussed at a meeting between Cogen and Dr. Calvin E. Gross, superintendent of schools.

Cogen said he will recommend that "principals be given freedom of action in suspending unruly pupils."

"We will not go along with the board's whitewash," he said. "We are asking all teachers to report all incidents and we will keep the public informed."

Questions Man About 40 Bombings

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Two policemen from Birmingham, Ala., were in Jacksonville today prepared to question a mild-mannered former mechanic about 40 unsolved racial bombings.

They flew in Wednesday after William Sterling Rosecrans, 30, Anderson, Ind., was charged with bombing the home of Donald Godfrey, 6, only Negro student in an integrated school. No one was hurt in the blast.

Sheriff L.O. Davis said Rosecrans signed a statement admitting the bombing.

Authorities also questioned Rosecrans about the dynamitings of several Florida East Coast Railway freight trains during a 14-month-old strike. He denied any part in them.

Police said Rosecrans admitted that he was in Alabama when an explosion blew apart a Birmingham Negro church Sept. 16, 1963, killing four girls and injuring 23 other persons.

Rosecrans was arraigned Wednesday on a federal charge of violating the 1960 Civil Rights Act, which prohibits obstruction of federal court integration orders. The school that the 6-year-old attends was integrated by order of U.S. District Court.

Declares Ruby

fied Wednesday that Ruby said he hoped Oswald would die.
Graves testified he wrenched the pistol from Ruby's hands after Ruby shot Oswald. He corroborated Leavelle's testimony that Ruby's hand was contracting, apparently trying to fire more shots after the one that killed Oswald. Graves said he gripped the cylinder of the pistol, preventing it from firing again.

Scheduled to be shown the jury during the day is the film of Oswald's shooting. Melvin Belli, chief defense counsel for Ruby, says it will be the first time Ruby has seen the film.

Wade is asking the jury of eight men and four women to return a verdict of death in the electric chair for Ruby, charged with murder with malice. Oswald had been accused of assassinating President John F. Kennedy when Ruby killed him. Ruby's lawyers contend he was temporarily insane.

Wade said he expects to complete the state's case today. Then the defense will have its turn.

Testimony from 14 witnesses Wednesday developed these main points:
1. Ruby continued to try to pull the trigger of his 38-caliber pistol after he shot Oswald.

This testimony came from J. R. Leavelle, Dallas policeman who was handcuffed to Oswald when Ruby fired. Belli seemed to attach importance to the point. He contends Ruby was "blacked out" emotionally.

2. Leavelle, under questioning both by Asst. Dist. Atty. William Alexander and Belli, said he could not tell which finger Ruby used to pull the trigger.

Defense lawyers say he used his middle finger. They consider this evidence that Ruby was in a state of "psychomotor dysfunction" and did not realize he was not using the first, or trigger, finger.

3. Doyle Lane, a Western Union supervisor, testified that Ruby bought a $25 money order moments before he shot Oswald.

Belli dwelt at length on Ruby's manner.
Q. (Belli): "Did he walk out leisurely?"
A. "Yes."

Q. "Nothing unusual about his walk whatsoever?"
A. "No."
Q. "Then two or three minutes later, Oswald was dead."

Frank Sinatra Jr., Back on the Stand

By JAMES BACON
LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Frank Sinatra Jr. kidnapping case resumes today with the serious cross-examination of defendant John Irwin after a lively Hollywood-type interruption by a pretty starlet.

Actress Vicki London, 19, came to U.S. District Court late Wednesday, fresh from a rehearsal for a Western musical revue. She was dressed cowboy style, complete with six-shooters.

She testified briefly about two phone calls she said she received last Dec. 9 and Dec. 10 when young Sinatra allegedly was held captive by three men charged with his kidnapping.

Besides Irwin, 42, the others on trial are Barry Keenan, 23, and Joseph Amisler, 23.

The Memphis actress was asked by government prosecutor Thomas R. Sheridan when she first met young Sinatra.

She said it was May 10, 1963, when he took her to the office of his father's lawyer, Milton Rudin.

"What was the general subject matter of the conversation among the three of you?" asked Sheridan.

"There was a rumor that I was going to file a paternity suit against Frank Sinatra Jr. It was ridiculous because I had just met the man that night," she answered.

No suit was filed.
The three defendants are accused of kidnapping young Sinatra from his Lake Tahoe, Nev., home.

Did he (Ruby) seem in a hurry to leave the Western Union office?"
A. "No."

Q. "Everything casual and seemed to be normal? He was cool and collected and passed the time of day?"
A. "Yes."

Belli contends that persons suffering from "psychomotor epilepsy" can appear normal for several days. He says grief over President Kennedy's death shocked Ruby into this condition.

Special Session
Announcement Soon

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus said today he hopes to announce early next week a date for a special legislative session on voter registration.

The governor said his aides already are working on the formal call for the session, with the space for the date left blank. Faubus said he hopes to continue laying groundwork for the motel room last Dec. 8. Sinatra was released unharmed after his father paid $240,000 ransom.

The defense contends the kidnapping was staged for publicity. The government says it was the real thing.

Against GF Handling U.S. Money

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Arkansas Fish Farmers Association told the House Fish and Wildlife Subcommittee Wednesday that it doesn't want the Arkansas Game and Fish Commission to handle any federal aid funds to state fisheries.

Jim Malone, president of the association, said in a nine-page report submitted to the committee his group would urge passage of a bill giving federal aid to fisheries only if the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission or the University of Arkansas is responsible for administering the funds.

The Senate has passed a bill providing a five-year matching program of $5 million a year to aid new research and development of fishery projects in various states.

Arkansas would be entitled to $25,000 a year.

There is no stipulation in the Senate bill as to which agency would administer the bill in Arkansas.

Malone said in the report Arkansas has the potential to produce one billion pounds of fish a year with a retail value of $100 million.

He cited as reasons the Game and Fish Commission should not handle federal funds to Arkansas fisheries:

A feud between sport and commercial fishermen, what he called the "constitutional autonomy" of the commission and the belief that these two factors have prevented fish farming from realizing federal aid benefits in the past.

Credited With Saving 4 Children

FORREST CITY, Ark. (AP) — Evelyn Reeves, 14, credited with saving four children from a house fire in which seven persons died Tuesday night, was reported in improved condition in a Forrest City hospital today.

Evelyn ran from the house, her hair in flames, after failing to get through a locked door to the seven who were sleeping in another bedroom.

She suffered burns but was not considered in serious condition today.

A graveside service for the seven dead was scheduled for 11 a.m. Friday at the Shady Grove Cemetery 4½ miles southeast of Forrest City.

The dead are Mrs. Elizabeth McGowan, 28; her daughter, Shirley Ann, 10; Debra Ann, 6; and Suberlyn, 3; her nephew, Anthony Reeves, 8, and nieces, Debra Reeves, 6, and Cassandra Gailing, 4.

Coroner Walter Stevens said today they died of suffocation. The bodies were burned beyond recognition.

A bolt of lightning struck a television antenna, starting the fire which destroyed the three-room frame house.

Evelyn pushed Dianne McGowan, Wilma Gailing, Hanna Gailing and Cecilia Gailing out of the house. The Gailings are children of Mrs. Emogene Gailing, who lived in the house but was not home at the time of the fire.

Evelyn Reeves also lived in the house.

All are Negroes.

Declares Dogs Lived Better Than People

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Germany's war crimes trial was told today that man-killing guard dogs at Auschwitz concentration camp lived in kennels that were far superior to the barracks inhabited by prisoners.

"The 200 or so dogs used to guard prisoners were housed in specially built, snug and dry kennels with concrete floors while prisoners lived in airless, windowless barracks with mud floors," the court trying 22 former SS guards and Auschwitz functionaries was told.

Attorneys representing former Auschwitz prisoners read the statements from the formal charges against the defendants.

"When cows were brought to the camp to supply milk for the SS contingents, prisoners were moved out of barracks to make room for the animals," the document continued.

"But before the cows were installed, windows were put in the barracks, and mud floors were covered with concrete—in other words, the quarters were made habitable."

The charges were read to refresh the memory of a witness, former Maj. Gen. Joachim Caesar, 62, who managed several thousand acres of prisoner-cultivated land at Auschwitz.

U.S. Working Out Sugar Beet Acreage

WASHINGTON (AP) — The agriculture Department is weighing applications of 21 areas for a sugar beet acreage allotment sufficient to warrant the establishment of new sugar beet processing factories.

The allotments would become effective for 1966 and subsequent growing seasons.

The acreage remaining to be allowed under provisions of sugar control legislation is sufficient, officials said, to justify only two additional plants. Thus 19 of 21 areas seeking allotments—and hence a new plant—are doomed to disappointment.

Officials said a decision on which two applications will be accepted is a matter of weeks away.

Farmers in eastern Arkansas have been experimenting with production of sugar beets as an adjunct to farm economy. The University of Arkansas has made a detailed study of the feasibility of beet production.

And some Arkansas farmers have worked with a Colorado firm in the plantings.

They have aided in seeking a sugar beet processing plant for either east Arkansas or west Missouri.

The various applicants had until Feb. 15 to mail arguments, briefs and additional information designed to convince officials of the feasibility of their individual application. Officials are just now completing study of this additional material. The original applications were made at a public hearing here Dec. 10-13.

Firm department allotments are essential for the establishment and maintenance of a sugar beet factory because the department controls marketings of sugar under a program designed to stabilize supplies and prices.

Pending applications include: The Southwest Kansas Sugar Beet Council, Deerfield, Kan., for 25,000-acre allotment to supply 50,000-ton plant that would be located near Garden City. Beets would be grown in 19 southwest Kansas counties.

The Pemiscot-Dunlin-New Madrid County Sugar Beet Association of Missouri for 20,000 to 25,000-acre allotment to supply 50,000-ton plant in one of the above named counties—the areas in which beets would be grown.

Western Missouri Beet Growers for 25,000-acre allotment to supply 50,000-ton plant which would be supplied by growers in a 10-county area along the Missouri River in the western part of the state.

The Tri-County Beet Growers Association, Goodland, Kan., for allotment to supply 50,000-ton plant to process beets which would be grown in Kit Carson County, Colo., and Sherman and Wallace counties in Kansas.

West Hartford Plans Primary

WEST HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—West Hartford Republicans will hold their own presidential "primary" April 15.

GOP leaders in this wealthy suburb announced that polls will open for 5½ hours to allow the town's 15,000 registered Republicans to name their choice.

The last time such a poll was held in West Hartford was in the spring of 1952. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower won.

New Commander

FT. CHAFFEE, Ark. (AP) — Brig. Gen. Kenneth H. Bayer of the 8th Army Headquarters in Korea will become commander of the III Corps Artillery Headquarters here June 1. He replaces Col. Chalmers H. Armstrong Jr.

68 Paroled

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Pardon and Parole Board paroled 68 persons Wednesday and recommended commutations of sentences for another nine convicts. Those paroled probably will be released Saturday, said W. P. Ball, director of the parole board.

Beet Council, Deerfield, Kan., for 25,000-acre allotment to supply 50,000-ton plant that would be located near Garden City. Beets would be grown in 19 southwest Kansas counties.

Skater Plans to Turn Professional

NEW YORK (AP) — Tommy Litz has given up the chance for worldwide amateur honors in figure skating for the opportunity to perform before large audiences.

Litz, 18, of Hershey, Pa., turned professional Wednesday, joining a touring ice show (Ice Capades) as a featured performer.

The recent high school graduate finished sixth in the 1964 Olympics after being rated second in the free skating phase of the event and sixth in the world championships following a first place rating for free skating.

Free skating, however, counts 40 per cent toward the title with 60 per cent going to compulsory figures.

Preventive Detention Plan

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanganyika (AP) — President Abeid Karume of Zanzibar Monday decreed a policy of preventive detention. Under it he can hold indefinitely in custody anyone deemed to be acting in a manner dangerous to peace and good order or who may endanger defense and security.

HERE'S SIMPLE TEST FOR CHILD'S MUSICAL TALENT

By Dr. Joyce Brothers

Dear Dr. Brothers: Before I married I was a well-known singer. I have two children now and I wonder if they'll inherit my musical talent. Of course, all children perk up when they hear certain tunes. Mine, for instance, sing the commercial jingles for several products, much to our entertainment. But beyond this, I think they may have a natural flair for music. Do psychologists know if there are simple tests for this talent? —M. de W.

Dear M. de W.: Such tests came to light in the psychological studies of youngsters' aptitudes in special fields. Statistics seem to show us that musical ability can be strongly inherited.

Psychologists have talked to a great many parents and found, however, that a great many believed that their children have these aptitudes when they really do not. This is natural. What parent doesn't look for the sparks of genius in his children. We have found also that a child can be made into a bundle of nerves if he's forced to study in the musical field if he lacks very special ability for it. This can happen if he's made to practice and can't very well distinguish pitch, for example, or if he hasn't an inherent sense of rhythm.

How can you distinguish between forcing a child who hasn't the talent and encouraging one who has?

We've found that there is a rather simple and straightforward test that you can make at home with your child. And you don't have to be musical yourself.

If the test shows affirmative signs, the best years for your child to start instruction is between the years of seven and nine. While a child can be taught between the ages of five and eight, what he learns in this three-year period is about equal to what he would learn between eight and nine. There is not too much gained by starting earlier.

These are the simple tests you can make at home to see if your youngster has inherited this talent.

The first test is to see if he can distinguish pitch. This is an inherited, rather than a learned sense, and you can make the test simply, even with a preschool child. Using the middle of the piano keyboard, ask your youngster to listen carefully. Strike a white key, and then another white key a note or two below or above it. Ask him which note is higher.

A simple rhythm test comes next. Sing an easy tune, such as "Yankee Doodle," clapping at the accented parts, and then have your youngster mimic you. If he catches on quickly, it can very well be a sign of future ability for the piano or drum.

Musical imagery is another needed and informative test. Expose your child to a record or two made especially for children. Ask him how the music makes him feel. If his responses are varied and imaginative, for his age, it's a strong, positive signal of musical talent latency.

Another factor needed in learning music is, of course, intelligence. If your child is quick to grasp other things, he may well be just as quick at music. If your child, say at eight, comes through these small tests with flying colors, then you can be pretty sure you can invest your savings wisely in music lessons. Besides, the chances are he'll really enjoy, not dislike them.

Marrying Against Parents' Wishes

If you're of the marriageable age, you're probably free to marry without parent's consent. But psychologists have a word of caution: if you marry a person against your parents' wishes, you start with a strike against your marriage. Recent surveys show "parental disapproval" is a high cause of marriage failure. This doesn't prove parents know best. They may or may not. Rather it shows that young people who defy them pay a psychological price for it. This is in the form of emotional insecurity that follows parental disapproval. The insecurity — which shows up in inner doubts as to whether you've made the right choice or not — turns out to be a grave handicap in marital adjustment.

And here's a short for parents: If your young son or daughter plans a marriage and seems intent on it, it's much better to give your approval than fruitlessly oppose it.

Their marriage will have a lot better chance of success if you do. In fact your disapproval could tip the balance between an otherwise good marriage and one that doesn't work out well.

Bobcats Go Against Cards in Tourney

By CARTER HARDAGE
Hope Star Sports Writer

The Bobcats go against the Fairview Cardinals tonight in the District Tournament at Malvern. The game will be the evening's big event, to begin at 9:00. Two other games will precede the Hope-Fairview match. Camden and Magnolia play at 6:00, and at 7:30 it will be Crossett and Snackover.

The main threat for the Tweeders is Bobby Bush, leading scorer in the District with a total of 260 for the twelve games. With an overall average of 21.7, he scored 35 points against Hope each time they met this season. To nullify this threat the Cats will depend on big Dan Jones, third in the Region with a 18.4 average.

The winner of the Cat-Bird match will fight it out with the victor in tonight's Camden-Magnolia bout. The winner of the Crossett-Snackover game will battle Malvern tomorrow at 7:00.

No Nonsense in Hank's Training

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Manager Hank Bauer of the Baltimore Orioles is running a no-nonsense baseball training camp.

"I won't tolerate anything less than 100 per cent effort out of every player on this club," the ex-Marine said when he arrived in Miami two weeks ago to take over as field boss of the Orioles.

"I don't believe in fining players, but if that's the only way to get a point across it will be done," Bauer said on the eve of spring training. "It's up to the players whether I'm tough. I will be if I have to."

So far, Bauer has been true to his word. And General Manager Lee MacPhail, who says Bauer will be in complete control of the club, has given his manager full support. Under Billy Hitchcock last season, several Orioles were criticized for their attitude.

Bauer showed he meant business Wednesday by fining outfielder Willie Kirkland $300 for reporting three days late to camp.

MacPhail, irked by relief pitcher Stu Miller's holdout, issued an ultimatum.

The general manager said Miller "has been offered more money than any other pitcher on our staff and more than any other reliever in the American League."

"If he can't play for that, he can stay at home," MacPhail said.

Russia Visions Olympic Victory

MOSCOW (AP)—The Russian track and field team will be too powerful for any other country to beat in the Tokyo Olympics, the coach of the team believes.

"The Soviet athletes can win in the Olympics under any circumstances," Gabriel Korobkov said in an article in Sovetskii Sport Wednesday. "Our athletes have been training for five months, and some of them have been training since the end of last season."

The United States, Great Britain and the combined German teams should offer the Russians the strongest competition, the veteran coach said.

Porkers Close Season Tonight

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)

—Arkansas closes its Southwest Conference basketball season here tonight against Texas Christian, the last place team. The Frogs are without a victory in 13 league games and have a 4-19 record for the season. Arkansas is 5-8 in the conference and 8-14 overall.

Arkansas won the first meeting with TCU 66-60. Razorback starters are expected to be J. D. McConnell, Warren Vogel, Jim Magness, Jim Jay and Ricky Sugg. The Frogs probably will start Archie Clayton, Gary Turner, Pat Peebles, Bobby McKinley and David Hull.

Zimmer Back on List of Injuries

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Veteran infielder Don Zimmer, who attracts injuries like John Wayne's jaw draws flists, can't even find refuge from his nearly perennial plague on a handball court.

As a result, Zimmer heads the rapidly growing list of players hurt in the early stages of spring training. The 33-year-old Washington Senator is set for a four-to-six week involuntary rest with a broken left hand.

Joining Zimmer on the injured report Wednesday, among others, were pitcher Gary Peters of the Chicago White Sox, inflamed left shoulder; Cubs' shortstop Andre Rodgers, spiked finger; Don Mossi, Detroit pitcher, sore left elbow, and infielder Phil Linz of the New York Yankees, face cuts.

Zimmer, expected to be Washington's third baseman this season, reported he broke his hand last Monday when he hit it against a wall in a handball game.

It was only another in a long line of mishaps for Zimmer, who is entering his 11th season with his fifth team. He has been hurt in the minor leagues, in the majors, in Puerto Rico and on the highway.

His first severe injury almost ended his baseball career before it really got started. The 5-foot-9, 185-pound Zimmer was beamed by a fast ball while playing for St. Paul of the American Association in 1953. He was a shortstop then with lots of potential.

Unconscious for 14 days with a fractured skull and a blood clot, he spent 31 days in the hospital, suffered double vision and lost the power of speech for a while.

Robie is the National AAU 200-meter butterfly champion.

All American Interested in Coaching

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The nation's No. 1 collegiate cager, Gary Lee Bradds of Ohio State, is more interested in junior high school teaching and coaching than in a professional basketball career.

The All-American took it in stride when informed he had been named by The Associated Press as the college player of the year.

"It's a great honor, especially since this is my last year and my last chance at it," he said. "I figured nothing like that could ever happen to me, and I just hope I can live up to it. I can't take it as a personal thing, for all the fellows on the team made it possible."

He bears the nickname of "Tex." He's 21 years old, 6-8, weighs 200 pounds, and once scored 65 points in a high school game. This year he averaged 34 to lead the Western Conference, and the Bucks need only a victory Saturday over Michigan State to win or share their fifth straight Big Ten title.

As a freshman Bradds, fresh from a farm near Jamestown, Ohio, was overshadowed by three-time All-American Jerry Lucas. Last year, Bradds moved into the All-American spotlight for the first time, giving the Bucks the All-American center berth for five straight seasons.

He made the second All-Ohio team among the smaller high schools as a senior, but admitted today that "I was just as tall as I am now, but I was skinny and clumsy."

The eldest of three brothers, Bradds got his first taste of basketball plunking practice shots at a barrel hoop nailed to the barn. He did all chores a farm boy is called on to perform.

In answer to the inevitable "how about turning pro?" question, Bradds said:

"I'm a physical education major, and what I really want to do is teach and coach in junior high school. And I'm more interested in teaching than in coaching. I like youngsters, and junior high boys are in the formative stage where they need guidance."

"Whether I'd accept a professional basketball offer depends on the kind of deal they'd make. No one has approached me, but I understand some pro scouts have watched our games and have talked with Coach (Fred) Taylor."

Rangers Are Pleased With Trade

NEW YORK (AP)—Muzz Patrick, general manager of the National Hockey League's New York Rangers, sat off in a corner looking much like the cat who'd swallowed the canary.

He had just watched young Rod Seiling's first game in a Ranger uniform and the big trade which brought Seiling and four other Toronto properties to New York for Andy Bathgate and Don McKenney was looking better all the time.

Seiling, playing most of two periods, had assisted on the tying goal and led All Star defenseman Pierre Pilote on a merry chase the rest of the evening as the Rangers dumped the Chicago Black Hawks 4-3.

It was a tough loss for the Hawks to absorb and Coach Billy Reay locked the dressing

Delight Comes Through With 40th Victory

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Delight chalked up its 40th straight triumph, 52-48 over Pyatt, in a quarterfinal game in the Class B state tournament here Wednesday night.

In other games, Cedarville beat Scranton 60-42 and Biggers-Reynor dumped Altheimer 65-51 to close first-round action.

Pyatt pulled within four points of Delight in the last minute after trailing most of the game. But Mike Lamb dropped in two free throws to ice the victory. Lamb got 23 points and Jimmy Cheek hit 20 for Pyatt.

Dale Brown got 19 points and Jerry Crabtree hit 17 to lead Cedarville. Billy Spicer got 18 for Scranton, which was behind 26-21 at halftime.

Junior J. C. Morrow scored 25 points, including 18 in the first half, to send Biggers-Reynor to triumph. Stan Townsend put in 13 for Altheimer.

County Line plays Dyess, Hickory Ridge meets Marmaduke and Biggers-Reynor plays Cedarville in quarterfinals today.

Semifinals are Friday with finals Saturday night.

Waldo Edges Charleston in A Meet

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Terry Horn led Waldo to a 67-65 overtime victory over Charleston in a state Class A basketball tournament quarterfinal here Wednesday night.

He scored 27 points in the game, including 14 in the fourth quarter and all five Waldo points in overtime.

Manila set a tournament scoring record by beating Sheridan 94-65 and Judsonia edged Alma 67-65 in other games. Marshall set the old scoring record on 94 points.

Jerry Pickering hit 19 points to help Horn, and Ronnie Metcalf's 15 points and Phil Renfro's 14 led Charleston.

Manila set the record by scoring 57 points in the second half, hitting 66 per cent of its field goal attempts. Kenneth Morris scored 24 points for Manila and Larry Heddon got 19 for Sheridan.

George Chapman's field goal with 16 seconds to play gave Judsonia a victory. Danny Wood crammed in 40 points for the winners and David Porter got 23 for Alma.

Judsonia plays Manila, Brinkley plays Mulberry and Rector faces Mountain Home in quarterfinals today.

Says Aaron Best Player in Majors

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Milwaukee slugger Henry Aaron, according to his manager, Bobby Bragan, not only is the best hitter in baseball, but the finest all-around player in the game. Naturally, Willie Mays, the highest salaried player in the game, is included.

"That's right," said Bragan. "I wouldn't dream of trading Aaron for Mays."

"I've regarded Aaron the better hitter, both for average and power, for some time now, but this is the first time I can say with conviction that Henry is the better all-around performer."

Bragan understandably is prejudiced but it is interesting to hear his reasons. "Aaron became a complete ball player for the first time last year," the popular little pilot said. "What made him so? Base running. He stole 31 bases in 36 attempts. That was the only element that was missing before."

"Until last year, Mays had the edge over Henry on defense and in base running. Now Henry has proved to all he can run the bases as well as Mays, if not better. Henry, like Willie, has catlike instinct and intelligence. Given the green light last year, he proved he could steal bases with as much success as anybody in baseball. He even stole four or five bases with Eddie Matthews up and nobody out. That's because he was so careful."

behavior, the 22-year-old Louisville boxer wowed the diplomats and the common folk at the UN with his deportment and enthusiasm.

"I love to meet all the people from all over the world," said Clay in explaining why he came to the UN.

Now that he is champion he said his main goal is "to see that 20 million Negroes have freedom, justice and equality in the United States."

Clay, conservatively attired in a black suit, white shirt and black tie, remained at the UN for two hours and had coffee in the delegates' lounge.

He said he planned to visit Ghana, Nigeria, Egypt, Turkey, Pakistan, Rome, and the Moslem holy city of Mecca in Saudi Arabia. Clay has adopted the Islam religion.

The champion was accompanied by his brother, Rudy; his secretary Archie Robinson, and the New York "Black Muslim" leader, Malcolm X.

Lopat Simply Stood by and Waited

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—While Charles O. Finley duelled with the American League and his franchise fluttered between Kansas City, Louisville, Oakland and the league office, Manager Eddie Lopat was standing by and waiting.

"I knew where we were going to be from Feb. 28 to April 10," said Lopat, already hard at work with the players at McKennie Field. "As for the rest, we just had to wait and see."

"The only time I saw Finley during all the fuss was for about 45 minutes when they had the special meeting in New York—the time the governor of Kentucky and the senators were up. We had a bite to eat. A few days ago he called me and said he hoped to get down in a week or 10 days."

What effect would the months of indecision have on the ball club?

"Actually, I don't think the whole thing will have much bearing on myself and the players," said Lopat. "Everybody knows that was not our department. If we get off to a good start and play good ball, the people will come out. Another thing, we have the Chamber of Commerce behind us, giving the big push."

Lopat is knee deep in coaches with six on the staff. "One more and we'd be like the Cubs," said Lopat.

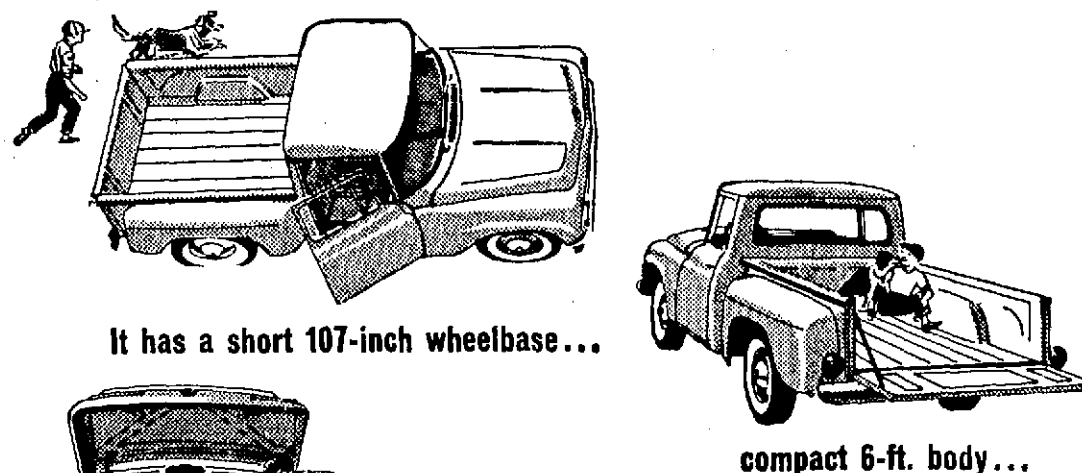

His aides are Jimmy Dykes, Mel McGaha, Babe Dahlgren, Gus Niarhos, Luke Appling and Tom Ferriek.

And how about the uniforms this year?

"We're going to wear white at home," said Lopat. "On the road we'll have two sets. One is a misty green with dark cap and dark socks. A good looking uniform. The other set is gold. We'll probably alternate in double-headers on the road. We will wear the old kelly green and gold suits of last year in the exhibition games."

tain he could steal on the pitcher."

Aaron, who missed the triple crown by only seven percentage points, led the National League in runs batted in, 130; total bases, 370; runs scored, 121; and slugging percentage, .586. He also tied for most home runs, 44. Aaron also topped Mays in batting average, .319 to .314.

Castro Big Loser Over Water Deal

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 1,000 Cuban workers have been fired from the Guantanamo naval base, and the Navy has ordered U.S. sailors there to replace them.

The Cuban workers discharged to date total more than half of the 1,800 who came through the gate each day.

The Associated Press learned this today after the United States spurned an offer by Prime Minister Fidel Castro to turn on the water to the base once again.

Castro's halting of the flow of fresh water to Guantanamo a month ago set off a chain of U.S. reactions, including the firing of Cuban workers who commuted to jobs on the base.

The United States has vowed to make the base self-sufficient. It has made arrangements to build a $10-million permanent water desalting plant and associated equipment for converting sea water into fresh water.

The Navy now is supplying water to the base with relays of huge tankers shuttling between Florida and Guantanamo, on Cuba's eastern end.

At last report, the base had 17 million gallons of water in storage. This is about 1 million more than were in storage tanks on the day Castro shut off the tap because the United States was holding 36 Cuban fishermen accused of poaching in U.S. waters.

There was no indication how many more of the daily commuting workers would be discharged.

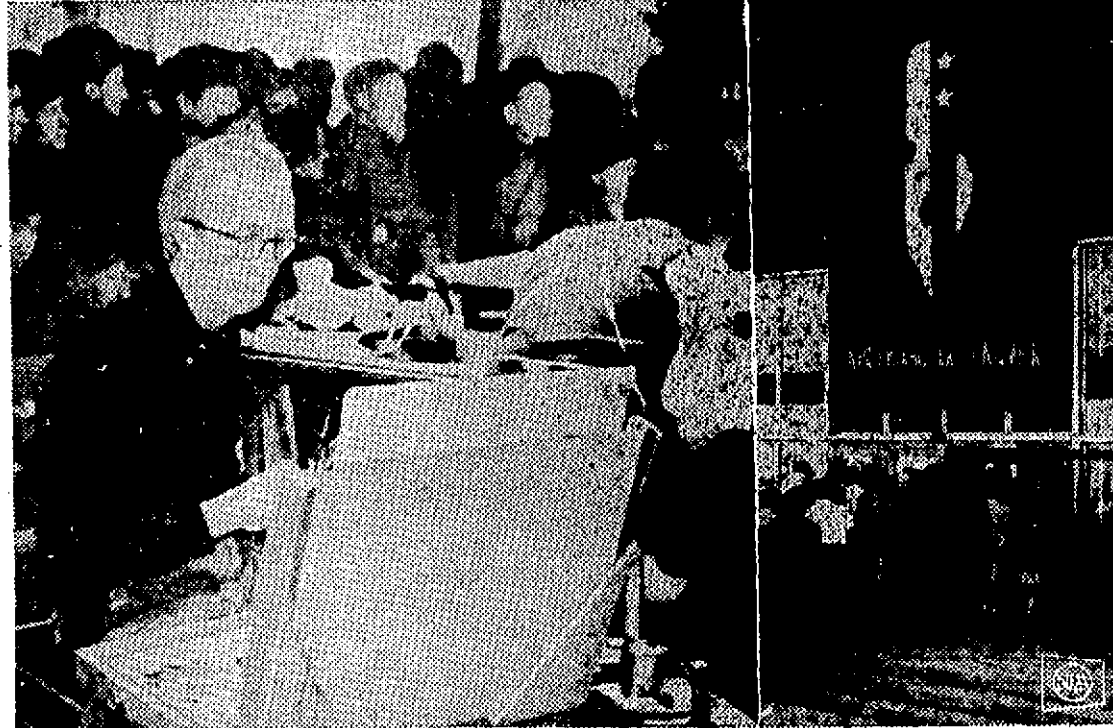

There are 600 Cubans who live on the base permanently and 600 others who have been returning to Cuba only on weekends.

"Military replacements are being ordered to Guantanamo," the Navy said when asked what was being done to fill the manpower gap left by the discharged Cubans.

A spokesman said these replacements are Navy men, probably including Seabees.

Vaccines have since been found to combat polio and the National Foundation is now engaged in fighting birth defects and arthritis.

ANOTHER UNIVERSAL LANGUAGE—Art may be called another universal language as nearly everyone can see something in it. That may well be the reasoning behind the United States' Information Agency's "Graphic Arts: U.S.A." exhibit which has been touring the Soviet Union and Soviet satellites for some months. At left, Moscow visitors to the exhibit watch Norman Rockwell at work. At right, crowds gather to visit the show. Symbol of exhibit hangs over entrance.

RFK Silent on Political Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy is "staying loose" in the face of persistent reports that he is a leading contender for the Democratic vice presidential nomination.

He has not taken himself out of the picture.

But he solemnly, and to all comers, refused to indulge in speculation about any possibility President Johnson will ask him to join him on the ticket.

He is seemingly unconcerned or amused by speculative pieces in the press that he not only would accept the nomination but is actively seeking it by his increasing public appearances.

"If I stayed away from the public they'd say I was sulking in my office," he told a reporter.

"I'm not going to say anything to answer these stories. I just haven't made up my mind about the future and there's no reason why I should be pushed into making it up."

No Solution to Problem in Malaysia

By GIL SANTOS

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Efforts to solve the Malaysian crisis collapsed tonight for the second time in 24 hours as Malaysia, Indonesia and the Philippines failed to settle the question of withdrawal of Indonesian guerrillas from Malaysia-Borneo.

Word that no agreement had been reached in efforts to find a solution came from Philipine Foreign Secretary Salvador P. Lopez who acted as a middleman between Foreign Minister Subandrio of Indonesia and Malaysian Deputy Prime Minister Abdul Razak for most of the day.

Lopez told newsmen after a second meeting with Razak that "the matter stands as is or it was when we parted last night."

The conference broke up Wednesday night over differences between the two countries on the cease-fire U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy arranged in the guerrilla war along the Malaysia-Indonesia frontier on Borneo.

Malaysia demanded the withdrawal of the estimated 400 Indonesian irregulars from its Borneo states of Sabah and Sarawak as the first order of business. Indonesia said any withdrawal must be accompanied by a settlement of the political dispute.

The Malaysian delegation appeared to have softened its position on withdrawal of the guerrillas.

Among the political issues is an Indonesian demand for a plebiscite in Sabah and Sarawak to determine whether the people want to be part of the Malaysian Federation, formed last September out of former British territories.

Cyprus Town Remains Under Siege

By WEBB MCKINLEY

POLIS, Cyprus (AP) — The siege continues for 700 Turkish Cypriots in the town of Polis.

More than a month ago outnumbered Turkish families from Polis and nearby villages gathered in a Turkish school, seeking safety from the undeclared civil war between the Greek and Turkish communities on Cyprus.

They are still there. Village elders, mothers, fathers, youths and babies are huddled in the two-story building, with little apparent hope of returning to their homes.

"Without escorts by British troops we cannot move anywhere," said schoolmaster Cahit Cavusoglu. "We are surrounded."

"The trouble with Polis is the trouble with this bloody island," said a British officer. "Both sides say they will not harm each other and neither believes a bloody word of it."

At the last crossroad inside the village is the command post of Capt. Michael Creighton of the British Royal Artillery. Two hundred yards uphill on the edge of the village is the Turkish school.

Inside, 112 families are jammed into a building where 370 pupils until recently attended classes.

In one classroom live 12 families. Each family does its cooking on a portable oil stove.

In the small office of the principal, schoolmaster Cavusoglu speaks: "The Greeks say come back and we will live together. But we can never get along again. Never at all, sir."

The Turks say the Greeks drove them out of their homes in a bloody battle and destroyed some houses with an armored bulldozer despite a truce. The last time they tried to go into town seven of their men were seized as hostages, the teacher said.

Now the only ones who venture forth do so under the protection of British troops.

The school is not surrounded, but two Greek Bren gun positions aim menacingly from a flat hill about 400 yards away.

Some Facts of Life in Arkansas

Competition in car selling is keen these days—or else some salesman slipped up.

Found under the windshield wiper of a car so fresh out of a Little Rock dealer's showroom the owner hadn't had time to buy tags yet, this offer: "FREE! A full tank of gasoline if you buy a new car from..."

Ironically, the offer was to purchase a make of the identical car it was placed on.

The question escaped memory, but the phrase was catching. A second grader—curious about an expected addition to the family: "Mama, when people get new people...AUCB.

Members of the Pope County Royal Mounted Patrol aren't listening to razor blade ads these days.

Barbers are taking a blow from the contest too. Any patrol member who shaves or gets a haircut before the judging is fined $10.

A sixth grade school class at Searcy has an unusual project—the students are building a model dinosaur nine feet long.

The two-term Democratic chief executive applied to the Board of Aldermen for the vacant city clerk's job Wednesday night.

As part-time mayor of this city of 12,500, Bartimole gets $4,000 a year. The city clerk's job pays $5,800.

Man Guilty at Texarkana Gets Life

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP) — David Roden, 43, of Hochatown, Okla., was convicted Wednesday of first degree murder and the jury fixed his punishment at life in prison.

He was charged in the slaying of James Henry Wallace last July 4. Wallace was shot while pursuing two men who had tried to rob his father-in-law.

Roden's attorneys said the case probably would be appealed to the state Supreme Court.

Prosecutor John Goodson said he will ask a jury to set punishment for Leroy Callahan, 44, of De Queen, who has pleaded guilty to a murder charge in the Wallace slaying.

Clinton Otwell, charged as an accessory in the case, was tried on a first degree murder charge in December but the jury could reach no verdict.

Callahan testified against both Otwell and Roden. He said he drove the station wagon in which he and Roden fled from the attempt to rob Henry Hooks. Wallace's father-in-law.

Goodson said he will ask a jury to deal with Callahan and retry Otwell in the June term of court.

Charges Gops Curbed at Henderson

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus said today he sees nothing wrong with college students engaging in political activity, either on or off campus.

His attitude, he said, applies to Republicans and Democrats alike.

The governor made the comments at a news conference when asked about a charge by Warren Liebling, a Republican leader, that Henderson State Teachers College President M. H. Russell wants to curtail off-campus activity of the college Young Republican Club.

"I have never talked to any college president or board member about meetings or clubs or any political activity on any campus," Faubus said. "I believe political activity is healthy. I can't think of any objection to these students engaging in politics on or off campus, as individuals or as members of campus political organizations."

Russell threatened to revoke the club's charter, which prohibits off-campus activity such as conducting surveys.

The club recently conducted a survey in Clark County, promoted by Liebling, and the results shows 51 per cent of those contacted would vote for Winthrop Rockefeller for governor.

Liebling, of Pine Bluff, is accessory in the case, was tried on a first degree murder charge in December but the jury could reach no verdict.

Callahan testified against both Otwell and Roden. He said he drove the station wagon in which he and Roden fled from the attempt to rob Henry Hooks. Wallace's father-in-law.

Goodson said he will ask a jury to deal with Callahan and retry Otwell in the June term of court.

Nixon to Stay on Oregon Ballot

WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard M. Nixon said today he is going to let his name stay on the presidential primary ballot in Oregon.

The former vice president reiterated at a news conference that he is not a presidential candidate. But he said that under Oregon law he would have to sign an affidavit that he would not accept the nomination if selected by the Republican convention in order not to be listed on the ballot.

Nixon said he couldn't do that because, if nominated, he would accept.

He also told the news conference that he wrote a letter to the secretary of state of Florida asking that a slate of delegates filed to support him for the nomination be withdrawn.

He said he understood that, under Florida law, this will be done.

Indian Is Certain to Head Force

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.
(AP) - A 52-year-old Indian general appeared almost certain today to command the U.N.
peace force for Cyprus, but at least six men were being mentioned for the tougher job of mediator between the Greek and Turkish Cypriots.

Diplomatic sources said Secretary-General U. Thant had chosen Lt. Gen. Prem Singh Gyani to command the force but was withholding an announcement until he receives replies from nations asked to contribute troops.

Gyani, a graduate of Britain's Imperial War College, commanded the 5,000-man U.N.
emergency force along the Egyptian-Israeli frontier for more than four years. In mid-January, he was sent to Cyprus as the secretary-general's personal observer.

In a rare display of unanimity, the Security Council authorized the U.N. peacekeeping operation Wednesday, empowering Thant to name the force commander and the mediator in coup that ousted mild-mannered Premier U Nu.

Sun Devils Regained Their Touch

By TED MEEIR

Associated Press Sports Writer

Only a month ago the Arizona State Sun Devils didn't seem to have a chance to repeat as champions of the Western Athletic Conference.

Then, overnight, the Sun Devils regained the touch that made them one of the nation's top college basketball teams last year.

They defeated Arizona 72-69
Wednesday night for their 11th victory in their last 12 starts and clinched at least a tie for the WAC crown. Only New Mexico can tie them and the Lobos must defeat Brigham Young tonight and Utah on Saturday to do that. In that event a flip of a coin will decide the WAC entry for the NCAA tournament that determines the national champion.

Actually the odds favor the Sun Devils. There has been speculation that the Lobos, hoping for a bid to the NIT, will pass up the NCAA. If the Sun
Devils make it, their first NCAA test would be against Utah State at Eugene, Ore., next Tuesday.

The Princeton Tigers and the Connecticut Huskies did make it to the NCAA tourney Wednesday. Princeton retained the Ivy League championship with a 76-66 victory over Penn. Connecticut edged Rhode Island 61-60 in a Yankee Conference playoff.

Princeton now meets Virginia
Military and Connecticut opposers Temple as part of an NCAA tripleheader at Philadelphia
Monday.

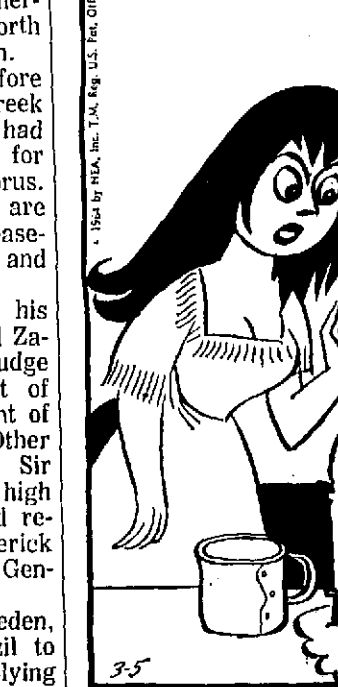

In other games St. Joseph's
Pa., NIT-bound, lost to Dayton
78-76 in overtime while NIThopefuls Syracuse, Penn State and St. John's, N.Y., won. Syracuse drubbed Niagara 92-72.
Penn State whipped Bucknell
66-58. St. John's whipped Holy Cross 83-78 and New Orleans
Loyola upset LaSalle 63-61.

Cincinnati edged its city rival, Xavier, 94-92. Tennessee nipped Florida 59-58 on Danny Schultz's two free throws with six seconds left and, Detroit banged Marquette - its 15th straight defeat, 100-76.

Bradley was named to the NIT Wednesday leaving only three berths to be filled in the 12-team field.

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — "What kind of country is this," screamed Miss Universe. "I will not have another needle."

That was the reaction of beauty queen Ieda Maria Vargas today when she learned that she couldn't tour Australia without being vaccinated again.

A doctor at Sydney Airport refused to accept a Brazilian certificate of vaccination.

Miss Vargas, tired and irritable after a 30-hour flight from

(the United States, retored "I'll not have the needle, and that's that.")

But an hour later she emerged from the doctor's office, rubbing her arm.

"I had to give in—and really it did not hurt much," she told newsmen.

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) —

Poet Ogden Nash says he's worried because he doesn't see any young writers on the horizon.

"At the time we need it most," he said, "I don't see anyone coming along that is a writing humorist."

In a speech at Pembroke College, Nash said:

"Our writers all want to write Greek tragedy, and television and advertising have snapped up many bright young people because they pay more money for their talents. Unfortunately, they also wear them out quickly, but I hope some of them emerge unscathed."

NEW YORK (AP)—Only last month, an Associated Press reporter asked showman Billy Rose, four times a husband, if he planned to marry again.

"I sure hope so," Rose replied. "I like girls."

Wednesday night Rose disclosed that he and Doris Warner Vidor, 48, were married Sunday at Rose's estate in Jamaica, B.W.I.

Mrs. Rose is the daughter of motion picture mogul Harry Warner and the widow of Charles Vidor, a movie director.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Band-leader Ray Conniff, 47, is suing his wife, Ann Marie, 49, for divorce.

His suit, filed Wednesday in Los Angeles, charged cruelty.

Conniff asked the court to divide community property. The arated Tuesday, the suit said. couple married in 1947 and separated Tuesday, the suit said.

NEW YORK (AP) — Roger Hilsman, former assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs, will join the faculty of Columbia University next fall. The university announced the appointment Wednesday.

Hilsman was a lecturer in international relations at Columbia in 1958. He joined the State Department at the start of President Kennedy's administration and was a key figure in directing U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

Johnson Pulls Surprise, Picks Women

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's surprise announcement that he is appointing 10 women to top government jobs may have been premature in at least one case. Taken by surprise, one appointee said she isn't sure she'll accept.

"I really can't say anything until I look into it a little more," Virginia Mae Brown of Pliny, W.Va., said Wednesday night when told the President had said he was naming her to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

"An appointment like that is a very high honor for a woman or a man."

Johnson sprung his surprise at a Women's National Press Club dinner at which he presented Judge Anna M. Kross, commissioner of corrections of New York City, with the club's first Eleanor Roosevelt Memorial Award.

The President also played again on what for him has become a recurrent theme — that he intends to strive to raise the status of women.

"Our determination to enlist women in this administration is no sporadic, election year objective," the President declared. "It will be a continuing aim not because it is politic, but because it is sound."

Given the setting, the President's affirmation was not unexpected. But his list of 10 appointees was. Amid applause he recited them off.

Mrs. Brown to be the first woman member of the ICC.

Pauline Tompkins, North Edgecomb, Maine, general director of the American Association of University Women, to the Advisory Committee on Education and Cultural Affairs of the State Department.

Mrs. Norman Chandler, wife of the president of the Los Angeles Times-Mirror Corp., to be a member of the Advisory Committee to the U.S. Information Agency.

India Edwards, former vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee, to be special consultant to the secretary of labor on youth employment.

Katharine E. White, chief of New Jersey's Garden State Parkway, to an ambassadorship, the country to be designated later.

Mary Keyserling, economist, to be director of the Women's Bureau in the Labor Department.

Rose McKee, former newspaper woman, to be director of the Office of Public Information of the Small Business Administration.

Dr. Eleanor Poland, health and housing researcher, to be specialist on the research grants program of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Barbara Bolling, former wife of Rep. Richard Bolling, D-Mo., to be special assistant to the U.S. chief of protocol.

Mrs. Herbert Stats, editor, to be consultant to the U.S. Office of Aging and coordinator of Senior Citizens Month in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Beatle Bugs Have Dream Exterminated

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Two girls—buggy over the Beatles—had their dreams exterminated today.

With an album of Beatle records, two bacon sandwiches and two small cardboard boxes of clothing, the girls—identified only as Fay, 14, and Dawn, 15—set out from their coastal Mississippi town for Liverpool, England.

Fay had drawn her life savings of $289.07 from the bank and with her friend planned to get a job in Washington, D.C. to finance the rest of the trip.

About 2,920 miles short of their goal to see the famed mop-haired singers, Mobile Police took them off the bus to await the arrival of their parents.

Early automobiles looked very much like buggies fitted with engines, and at first they were playthings of wealthy men.

THE WEeping WIDOW MINE

By Nelson C. Nye

THE STORY: Charlie Medders has given Belita Storm a paper showing she owns half interest in a rich strike in the desert. T. K. Jones, a wealthy backer of Medders, has a judgment against Charlie for $15,000. Jones wants to buy Belita's interest.

IV
The girl said, glancing around at McFarron, "I guess we've taken up enough of his time. If you're ready now, Sheriff—"

"Here . . . hold on!" Jones cried. In a contortion of anguish he came darting forward to catch at her arm. Jaw dropping, he jumped back in ludicrous alarm from the blazing look that banged into his face. "Wh— What's that for?" he spluttered.

"Someone should teach you not to suck eggs." She stood another fierce moment watching him with a contempt hard to bear. "I suppose that kind of thing is what keeps you solvent."

Chagrined, the rebellious sting of a man's flustered pride, groped to hold him together above the claws of his fury while he fumblingly attempted to pass it off as a joke. No one joined him in this effort to save face and in the end, McFarron noted, nothing could withstand the livid drive of his cupidity. "Six!" he snarled on the verge of apoplexy.

The girl's knowing eyes were bright with disdain. "And you'd give $15,000 for a hole in the ground!" She turned on her heel in a flutter of skirts and sailed through the door without a backward glance.

Meanwhile, the man whose actions had set all this in motion was lazily hazing a pair of fat burros through the noontime heat that crawled and writhed above the blistering dust some hundred rods west of the mission San Xavier del Bac, not a great many miles dead south of the crumbling remains of Tucson's old wall.

The gleaming gypsum white of these ancient buildings raised by Indian sweat to the black-robes' Cross could be seen a good ways across the swales and hogbacks of the Santa Cruz Valley. Charlie Medders, however, had come down off the granite slopes of the sahuaro strewn mountains. Lifting the water bag slung from a shoulder he shook it and, grimacing, reluctantly reckoned he better stop by and fill it.

The Jesuits' community had been laid out along the hump of broad sandy knoll somewhat west of the butte whose gaunt whiteness had stood lonely vigil over the river's gray wastes and the tops of great cottonwoods greenly trembling where they showed above the bluffs.

Medders, twisting his head, scanned several fields of drought dwarfed corn beyond the church's far wall as he came up to the coping of the hand-dug well with its squeaky hoist and cooper-bound bucket. He sent the rope down and uncapped his deflated water bag, in a sweat to get through with this and be on his way.

Fact is, he would have bypassed the mission as he generally did, except for the needs of his long-eared charges, so hammered-down looking under the bulge of heavy packs.

About to fetch up the bucket his hand was arrested by the swish of cloth and a rasping crunch of oncoming sandals, and he jerked up his chin with a smothered curse. His worst fears were realized, it was Father Eusebio. The portly padre was making straight for the well.

"Peace be with you, my son." The benediction was free—like the concerned stretch of smile that tiredly tugged the old man's lips.

"I think," the priest said,

"we'll have an accounting. Where have you been since you last passed this way?"

"Prospectin', Father." The look in those eyes really made a man squirm.

"Is that what they're calling it now? Salting stripped, worthless holes to sell the unwary?"

Medders looked shocked. "Figgered you, of all people, would think better o' me than that!" He dragged a sweaty hand across his scraggle of whiskers.

"Charles," the old man said, cutting into it, "how long has it been since you went to confession?"

"Too long," Medders muttered, staring down at cracked boots.

Father Eusebio nodded. "Get yourself cleaned up. I'll be—"

"Golly Moses!" Charlie exclaimed, looking sick. "But I just can't stop now! Supposed I be right this minute in T. K.'s office, an' as a man of my word—"

He tossed a few chunks of ore at his burros to get them started.

Others Don't Seem to Love U.S. Much

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson either overstated the case when he spoke of how much Americans are beloved or the anti-American outbursts by other peoples since Jan. 1 were just lovers' tiffs.

The latest hostility to this country came Tuesday night in Greece. Mobs rioting over the Cyprus civil war burned Johnson in effigy in Athens and on the island of Rhodes mobs stoned American offices.

Greece, which has been receiving foreign aid from this country, is an American ally in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The United States helped save it from communism after the war.

Johnson, talking to a group of government employees here last Feb. 12, said: "Regardless of what you hear we are a much beloved people throughout the world. We are respected and we appreciate it."

He said this after a number of episodes in which Americans had already suffered embarrassments and worse, including death.

Last Jan. 9 in Panama, which has also received U.S. foreign aid, plus rental for the canal, Panamanians rioted against Americans in the Canal Zone.

The basic reason was resentment against U.S. control of the canal and zone. In the rioting and shootings 20 people were killed, including three Americans.

Panama wants a change in the 1903 treaty giving this country the right to control the canal indefinitely. It broke off diplomatic relations with the United States and there has been no settlement yet.

In Zanzibar, which only got its independence from Britain last Dec. 10 but where the Arab minority controlled the government, black Africans revolted Jan. 12 and set up their own leftist regime.

The Russians recognized their new government quickly but the United States delayed. The Africans responded by arresting and expelling two American diplomats until this country gave recognition Feb. 23.

Zanzibar is part of the British Commonwealth.

Also in February in Africa's Ghana the United States was accused, by President Kwame Nkrumah's government-controlled press and radio of being behind the latest alleged attempt to assassinate him.

A mob, steamed up by the dictatorial Nkrumah's politicians, demonstrated before the U.S. Embassy and ran down the American flag. The government deported four American professors.

The United States recalled its ambassador, William P. Mahoney Jr., for consultations. He said the anti-American demonstrations were the climax of feelings which had been building up for some time.

This country has a commitment of $147 million in long-term loans to help build the Volta River dam for Ghana and an aluminum smelter to be run by private American companies for the Ghana government.

Other economic aid from this government to Ghana runs into the millions.

In South Viet Nam, where the United States for eight years has pumped in billions of aid, economic and military, to help its fight against the North Vietnamese Communists, anti-Americanism took a vivid, bloody turn.

The Communists, infiltrating the capital of Saigon and using a deliberate campaign of terror by assassination, have wounded and killed Americans with bombs and bullets.

In Athens Tuesday night the rioters complained the United States is following a pro-Turkish line in attempts to settle the dispute on Cyprus where the Cypriots, Greeks and the outnumbered Turks have slaughtered one another.

Be Suspicious for Those Hogs

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Alabama farmers have been advised to be suspicious if their hogs stagger around in a peculiar manner.

State Agriculture Commissioner A. W. Todd issued the warning Wednesday, saying a theft ring broken up recently had been feeding hogs loaves of bread soaked in bootleg whisky. When the hogs got too drunk to stand, Todd said, "they were loaded into the back of cars and trucks without squealing or commotion."

Annual Colorado Coyote Hunt

STERLING, Colo. (AP)—The annual coyote hunt in which 25 members of the Northeast Colorado Fish and Game Club took part wasn't entirely a failure. Three horned owls were bagged.

Spring means a wide-open season in shoes (see inset). To erase detractors such as pump bumps and calluses, treat your feet to beauty care each day. After soaking in warm, soapy water, use pumice to smooth away rough spots. For stubborn calluses and cracked heels apply skin softening petroleum jelly each night before going to bed.

3 Million 'Torch' Books Already Sold

NEW YORK (AP) — Orders for "The Torch Is Passed," The Associated Press book memorializing the death of President John F. Kennedy, have reached a total of 3,091,000. Additional requests continue to come in at a rate of more than 100,000 a week.

The announcement about the book was made on AP leased wires Dec. 5, before a line had been written. By the time the first books rolled off the presses in Poughkeepsie, N.Y., Dec. 31, AP newspapers and newspaper readers had ordered more than a million copies, sight unseen.

After the books reached the hands of readers, through 735 participating newspapers in the United States and Canada, there was a new wave of orders as the buyers asked for additional copies for friends and relatives. Hundreds of individuals wrote and telephoned commendations, as did many newspaper editors.

The 100-page book has striking portraits in color of President and Mrs. Kennedy by Karsh of Canada, as well as other color and black and white AP news photographs depicting the whole course of the tragedy. However, the book, 10 inches by 13 inches, is especially distinguished by a 35,000-word narrative telling the complete story with dramatic impact. It was turned out by a team of four top AP writers headed by Saul Pelt and including Sid Moody, Hugh Mulligan and Tom Henshaw.

Once the presses started rolling at one of the world's biggest printing plants, that of Western Printing and Lithographing Co. in Poughkeepsie, they have rarely stopped, night or day. For several weeks, a second plant at Racine, Wis., was in operation.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer ordered 130,000 copies. The New York Daily News and the Kansas City Star have ordered 90,000 copies and expect to order more. Some smaller papers, such as the Harrisburg Patriot-News and the Visalia, Calif., Times Delta, have placed even higher orders in terms of percentages of their circulation.

While AP has expected almost from week to week to get current with orders, this goal still eludes it because of the continuing demand. Deliveries have been made of 2,768,000 copies. There has been no general distribution through bookstores.

Many editors have asked, "When will production be cut off?" The answer is that AP will print the book as long as member papers or their readers want it.

Abroad, "The Torch Is Passed" already has been translated into seven foreign languages—Japanese, Korean, Spanish, Italian, Dutch, Danish and Swedish. Inquiries on publication rights are coming in from publishers in other countries. In all, English and foreign language editions of the book will be distributed in some 40 countries.

In Japan, the Japanese editors called the book "Darasu no Kinyoshi"—Friday in Dallas—and distributed it to newsstands on Feb. 1. Within a week, orders for 80,000 copies put the book on the best-seller list.

"We weren't prepared for this tremendous response," said Jissho Hamana of Asahi Shimbun,

At Least One Stayed at Home

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. (AP) — Pearl Beeson saw her daughter, Mrs. Charles Shaw, being assigned to the other bed in her Lincoln Park Hospital room.

Both were hospitalized for treatment of circulatory ailments. Down the hall Mrs. Beeson's grandson, Charles Mills, 6, was bedded with rheumatic fever.

When Charles' mother got home from taking Mrs. Beeson to the hospital, she found Charles Shaw—her father—had fallen down the stairs and broken some ribs.

He stayed home to recuperate.

More to Use Uncle Sam for Savings

By ADREN COOPER
WASHINGTON (AP) — The number of taxpayers who use Uncle Sam's handy "savings bank" may increase sharply under the new tax cut law.

Millions of Americans have more money withheld from their paychecks than required so they won't owe too much extra at year's end, or get a refund.

Last year, the Treasury paid out about $5 billion in refunds. With the 4 per cent reduction in the withholding rate to 14 per cent many taxpayers are concerned that the Treasury won't be taking out enough and they will owe Uncle Sam on this year's income taxes.

However, if too many taxpayers get the idea of having more of their pay withheld, the impetus of the tax cut—pumping additional money into the economy—would be softened.

When the tax bill was drafted last year the plan was to drop the withholding rate to 15 per cent on Jan. 1, then to 14 per cent the next year.

When the bill wasn't passed by Jan. 1 and the withholding one of Japan's largest publishing enterprises. It had ordered a first printing of only 30,000. In the Netherlands, the big newspaper publishing firm of Het Parool already has had to increase the size of its first printing. Though the book will not go on sale until March 6, advance orders for "The Torch Is Passed" already have topped 20,000.

In Italy, Oggi magazine published a deluxe, hard-cover memorial edition and called it, "The tragedy that has shaken the world."

Other publishers abroad include Donghwa News Agency in Seoul, Korea, which has published a limited edition; Samlens of Copenhagen, Del Atlantico in Buenos Aires, whose Spanish language version will be circulated both in Spain and the Spanish-speaking countries of Latin America; and the Allhem Publishing House in Malmö, Sweden.

In the Philippines, the Manila Times received 10,000 copies of the American edition for distribution to Filipinos. More than 12,000 copies have been ordered through the Pacific and European editions of Stars and Stripes.

Smaller orders have gone to newspapers in a number of other countries which are distributing the book to their readers through the coupon system.

rate was still operating at 18 per cent, the question was whether to retain the two-stage reduction plan and probably withhold too much at 15 per cent, or to go immediately to 14 per cent and possibly withhold too little.

The decision was to drop the withholding rate to 14 per cent.

"The withholding rate is only an estimate," a Treasury official noted. "We can't be sure now it's going to work out until we've tried it."

If the rate had been reduced from 18 per cent to 15 on Jan. 1 as planned, however, the amount of tax take from the tens of millions of paychecks would have been reduced by $7.2 billion during 1964. Under the present proposal withholding would be reduced $8 billion.

This may leave some taxpayers a little short at income tax filing time in the spring of 1965. In many cases, it probably will mean only a smaller refund.

They Can Shout From Housetops

RINGGOLD, Ga. (AP) — Candidates in the Catoosa County primary election can make as many speeches as they want, or they can shout from the housetops, says the County Democratic Executive Committee.

But no candidate must be called upon to pay for the opportunity to make a speech. County Democratic Chairman Cortez Lamb said Tuesday night there is no rule banning public speeches on the part of the candidates.

Actually, said Lamb, the rule states that no candidates will speak before a fund-raising gathering of any kind unless it is approved by the executive committee.

McNamara Taking Off for Viet Nam

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara will take off for South Viet Nam Thursday night, cool to proposals to carry the war against Communist North Viet Nam.

Anything but a "soft liner," McNamara is understood to feel the South Vietnamese forces will win or lose the fight by the way they go about eliminating the Communist insurgents inside their own country.

The defense chief is said to believe the Vietnamese lack the capability to carry on a full-scale campaign in South Viet Nam and at the same time strike into the north.

McNamara reportedly is against sending Americans on any such operations into North Viet Nam.

It is his position, both in public and private, that the U.S. military men — 15,500 of them now — are in South Viet Nam as trainers and advisers, and that the fighting must be done by the Vietnamese.

McNamara recognizes that guerrilla operations or air strikes into Red territory might slow supplies and reinforcements to Communist elements inside South Viet Nam.

But he contends this will not solve the basic problem that has plagued the U.S.-supported effort since it began on a big scale more than two years ago.

That problem: how to win the backing of the people in the countryside for the government in Saigon.

Evidence reaching the Pentagon since the most recent coup a little over a month ago has not been conclusive, in the view of top officials, as to whether the Vietnamese people have rallied to Maj. Gen. Nguyen

Turned Out to Be Mineral Oil

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — Police held back spectators while the bomb expert cautiously

Khanh, the new premier, any more than they stood behind the two governments before Khanh.

One thing Khanh is doing pleases U.S. authorities — he is going out into the country on a meet-the-people campaign.

One of McNamara's chief aims in his fourth trip halfway around the world is to find what can be done to get the war back on the track again—to get the machinery of government and command working after the disruption of the second coup in three months.

It appears unlikely that U.S. policy will take any spectacular new turn as a result of McNamara's visit. It is considered highly improbable that any U.S. combat troops will be sent to South Viet Nam.

Pizza for the Family

Do you want to make your family hurry to the dinner table? Then let them see you preparing homemade pizza, and let them smell the pizza coming from the oven, piping hot and bubbling with a rich tomato sauce topped with aged Parmesan cheese. You'll have no trouble with second calls to such a meal.

And lucky you, when you choose a packaged pizza to prepare for your family. Everything you'll need—except the water—is packed in one 15 1/2 ounce box. There is no measuring, weighing or pre-cooking to be done. You simply open the box for a bag of flour with the yeast already in it, a packet of mixed herbs and spices, a can of pizza sauce, and a packet of 100 per cent Parmesan cheese. In a matter of minutes, the yeast leavened dough is ready for shaping into a 14 inch round, a 15 by 12 inch rectangle, or two 9 inch rounds. Then the sauce is spread over the dough to be topped with the spices and herbs and, finally, the grated cheese. Twenty minutes in a hot oven produces a tender, savory pizza with a time saving, crispy one-step crust destined to satisfy a hungry family and win compliments for the cook.

Should you want to vary the packaged pizza dinner, consider this version combining ground beef and mushrooms with the sauce and cheese topping. Accompany it with glasses of chianti for adults; tumblers of milk for the children.

Double Treat Pizza
1 package (15 1/2 ounces) Kraft Pizza with Cheese
1/2 pound ground beef
1 can (3 ounces) sliced mushrooms, drained

Prepare pizza as directed on package. Before adding cheese, arrange ground beef and mushrooms to form wedges. Sprinkle with cheese.

Go Fly a Kite!

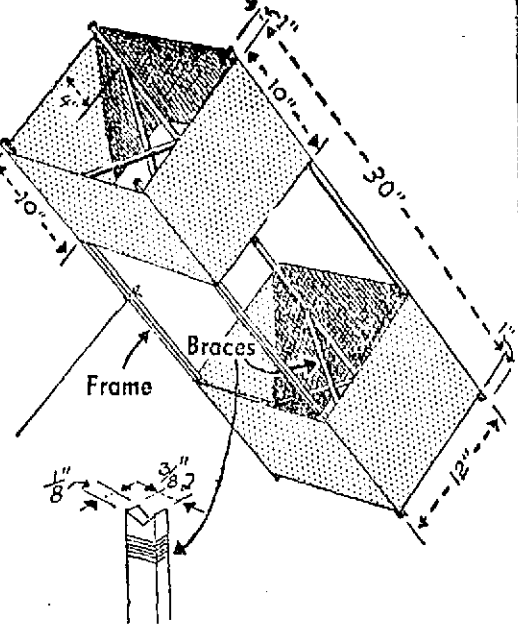

Blustery spring winds make perfect weather for kites — and the best (and cheapest) kites are those you make yourself. Although kite flying may never take the place of baseball as America's favorite, anybody can play this game well — and that's what makes it popular. But like baseball kite flying has a few rules. According to the American Public Power Assn, kites should be flown in wide open spaces away from utility lines streets and congested areas. Parks and beaches are perfect places. Don't fly kites in rainy weather and make sure the kite string is dry — and NEVER of Metal. Below are three designs for sleek kites Try your luck. And go fly a kite.

MALAY KITE

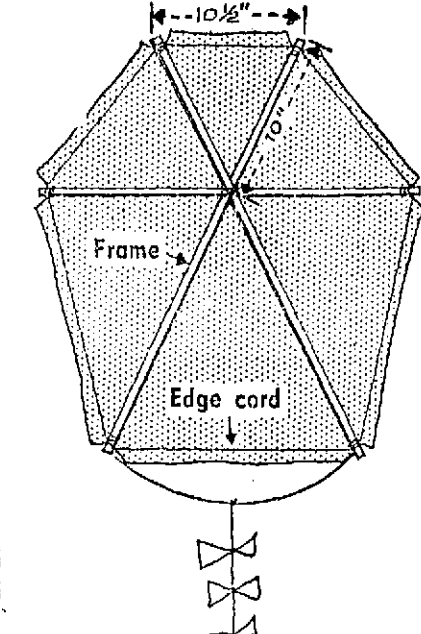

Frame should be made from spruce or bamboo (1/4x1/4x36 inches). Use tissue or crepe paper for cover, cotton twine for edge cord and bridle. Cement and lash center of bow to the spine 9 inches from one end of spine, then tie a piece of twine to one end of the bow, bend the bow upward and tie the twine to the other end. Pass the edge cord around the four ends of the notched frame and tie securely. Cover frame with paper. Attach bridle at the bottom of the spine and at the point where the bow and spine cross, making a small hole in the cover to pass the twine through.

BOX KITE

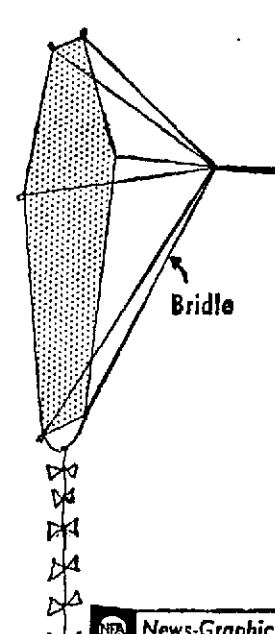

Use four wood pieces 1/4x1/4x30 inches (for edges), four pieces 3/4x1/4x17 1/2 inches (for braces) and two strips (12x50) of wrapping paper or plastic for cover. Assemble frame, placing braces four inches below ends of edges. Make sure braces are notched so that they fit edge sticks snugly. Cement cover around each end of frame, leaving center bare. The kite line should be attached to the center of one edge stick. The kite flies with this edge down and no bridle is required.

FLAT KITE

Frame is made of two pieces (1/4x1/4x24 inches) and one piece (1/4x1/4x18 inches) of spruce or bamboo. Use tissue or wrapping paper for the cover. Tail can be made of crepe ribbon or strips of light cloth. All sticks should cross at a point 10 inches from end of longer sticks (see diagram). Cement and lash the sticks together securely. Pass the edge cord around the ends of frame, then paste cover over the edge cord, allowing a 3/4-inch overlap. Fasten two bridle to the upper and lower ends of the two long sticks and tie the crossed bridle together at a point about 9 inches from the surface of the kite (see diagram). Tie tail on lower bridle, attach upper bridle to kite line.

Campaign May Lack Usual Drama

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — This 1964 campaign year will have the usual chatter but may wind up ho-hum, lacking the tension and drama of recent presidential contests.

In three of the past four elections the issues and problems which gave the voters passionate concern seem muted so far this year.

For instance: war. Communist aggressions, McCarthyism, worry about internal security, the question of taking a new direction into a new era, and more heat about and by the candidates than has been shown yet in 1964.

Since President Johnson has the inside track for the Democrats' nomination, there's no excitement about their convention next summer. This could change if he pulls some boners, but there's nothing like that in sight.

Although the Republican nomination is wide open, the two men working for it hardest apparently haven't built major fires: New York's Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and Arizona's Sen. Barry Goldwater.

The two who may have the best chance for the prize don't even admit they're candidates, although they do a lot of talking: former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Pennsylvania's Gov. William W. Scranton.

If Nixon is the man, the little element of mystery which gives a campaign zest before it starts won't apply. He laid down his campaign manners and methods in 1960.

Scranton, for a man being mentioned, shows a strange indifference. Last month he said a candidate for president to be effective must be "real stirred about the issues." He says he is not stirred up enough now.

It wasn't like this in what former President Harry S. Truman might now consider the good old days of 1948 when to practically everyone's surprise, but not his, he beat New York's Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

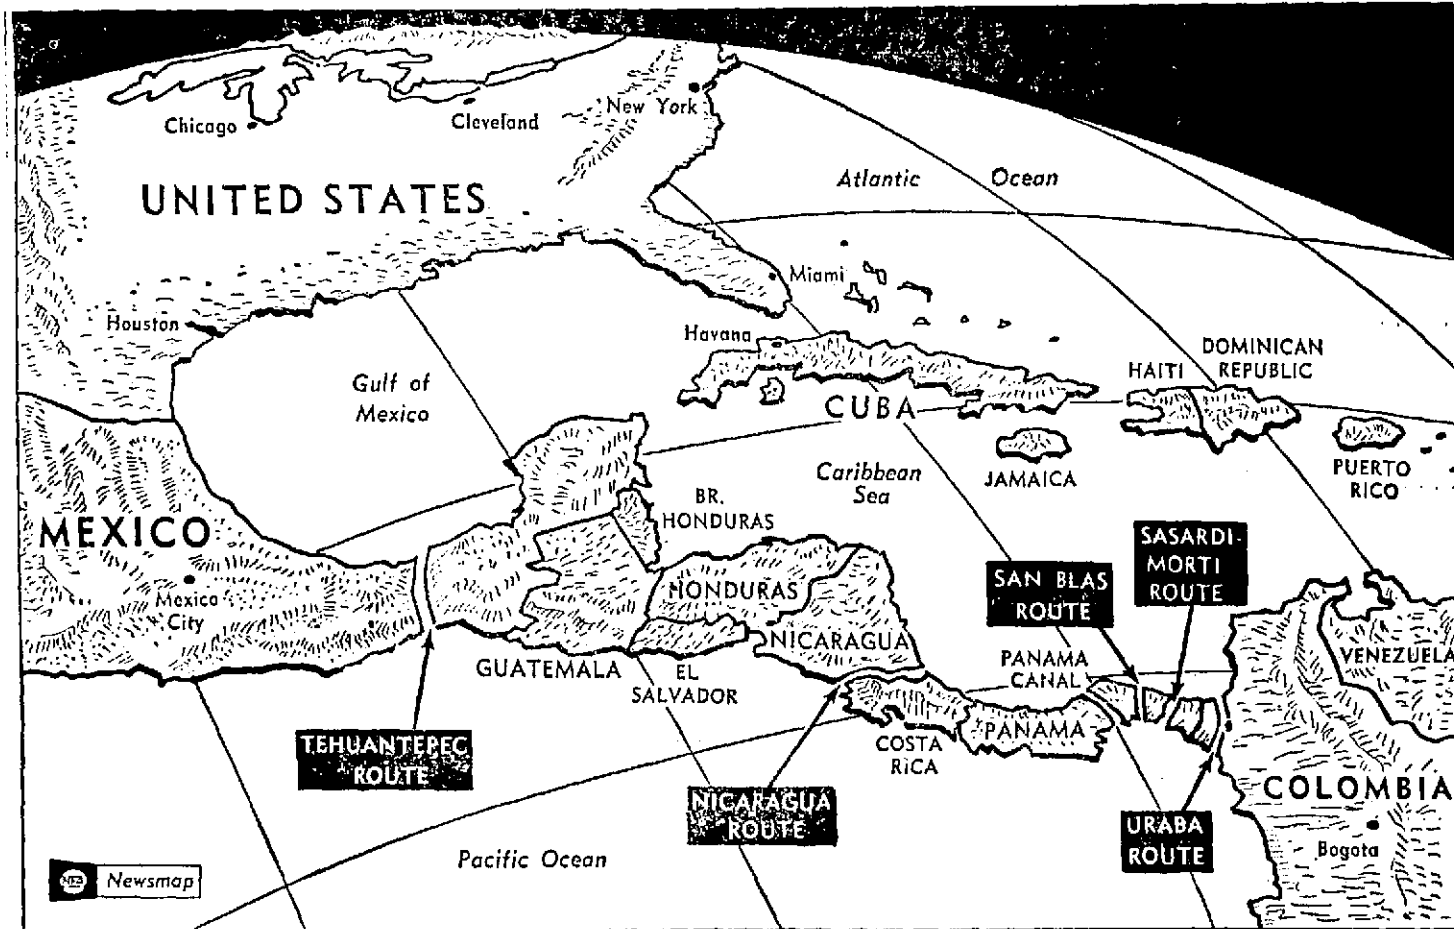

In that year the country's jitters about the Communists-in-government issue was only part of the national anxiety. Earlier Truman had blocked the Communist pressure on Greece and Turkey.

But in 1948 tension climbed like a thermometer in a boiler room: the Communists had grabbed Czechoslovakia just before the campaign began and during the campaign Truman was trying to smash the aggressive Soviet blockade of Berlin with an airlift.

Even that was only part of the voters' concern. They had to ask themselves: Was this to be the end of an era that began 16 years before with Roosevelt? Was it time for a change? The voters decided no.

Their mood was far different in 1952 when Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower beat Adlai E. Stevenson, governor of Illinois. By then the country was torn apart over McCarthyism, communism in this country, and the war against communism in Korea.

Stevenson gave the campaign dignity and intellectual ability far above most campaigns in history. He held interest. But by then the voters really wanted a change and chose the less articulate Eisenhower.

ALTERNATE CANAL ROUTES—Seeking a better ocean-to-ocean route, the United States has explored 30 different ways across the narrow waist of the continent. While these studies are by no means new—they have been going on for more than 15 years—renewed interest has been shown in them since the recent flare-up in Panama, especially the five routes shown on the Newsmap. A score card line-up of the 30 routes would show that 1 goes through Mexico, 7 go through Nicaragua, 11 pass through Panama, 5 go through Panama and Colombia and 6 go through Colombia. Troubles with Panama aside, the present canal is growing obsolete. It is thought that by the end of the century it will be totally inadequate. A sea level without locks is the ultimate goal. It is estimated that another canal built with nuclear explosives would cost about $500 million.

Super Plane Was Kept a Secret

By STANLEY MEISLER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Development of the A11, the new 2,000-mile-an-hour jet plane, was so secret that only a few members of Congress knew about it. This indicates the plane was developed with Central Intelligence Agency funds rather than the Defense Department's. While a number of congressional committees are privy to the Pentagon's activities, only a few senators and representatives at hand when it overruled the CIA.

It means that the House, in recent debate on defense spending, did not have full information at hand when it overruled Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and approved an extra $40 million for research on an improved manned interceptor plane.

Existence of the plane was announced by President Johnson at his news conference Saturday. He said the planes, which can operate at higher than 70,000 feet, were being tested "to determine their capabilities as long-range interceptors."

Johnson noted that several key Congress members had ulate Eisenhower. When Stevenson ran against Eisenhower in 1956 he never had a chance. By then, under Eisenhower, the country had recaptured its sanity and stability. Both McCarthyism and the Korean war were over.

The duel between Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy gave the 1960 campaign spice, particularly the television debates. Interest was high, so high the voters were almost equally divided between them, as Kennedy's hairline win showed.

But nothing like any of those campaigns is in sight for 1964, at least not yet.

Mrs. Kennedy Beginning Life Over

WASHINGTON (AP) — There are bound to be "low days" and the waves of terrible remembrance, but Mrs. John F. Kennedy is picking up her life again as a private citizen in quiet Georgetown.

"She's getting along quite well," friends report three months after her husband's assassination. Mrs. Kennedy is engrossing herself in her children, her newly purchased home and memorials to her husband, especially the John Fitzgerald Kennedy library project.

She has been dining out with friends, is seen in neighborhood stores, went on a recent holiday weekend with friends on a Georgia plantation and took her two youngsters to a circus performance.

Secret Service men kept photographers away and few paid attention to the former first lady during the circus outing. Mrs. Kennedy, however, can never again really be just a private citizen. Every day, as the sightseeing buses ride by and police and Secret Service men maintain their 24-hour guard, she is reminded of it.

been informed about the plane's development. One member of the House, who knew about the A11 for many months, described its development as the best kept American secret since development of the atomic bomb in World War II.

In the House Armed Services Committee, for example, only a few members are believed to have known about the plane's secret development.

An informed source said that these few were informed because they have a special assignment that allows them to receive such information.

MURDER TRIAL IN PROGRESS
MORRILTON, Ark. (AP) — The first degree murder trial of Bill Gross, 26, of Hattiesville, began today in Conway County Circuit Court.

Gross is charged in the Sept. 29 slaying of Frank A. Birch, 68.

Also charged in the slaying is Herman Benjamin Wingard, 32, of Jefferson County. He will be tried later.

Prosecutor Jeff Mobley says Birch was beaten, cut, stabbed and sawed to death.

Birch's body was found at his home where officers said they found broken bottles, two sticks of bloody stove wood, a hacksaw and a knife splattered with blood. The killing followed a drinking spree, officers said.

Gross and Wingard were arrested in Texas.

Harris Group Meets on Hauling

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Rules Committee questioned Rep. Oren Harris, D-Ark., for more than two hours Tuesday in a closed door session, on a complex, sweeping transportation bill.

The House Commerce Committee, which Harris heads, approved the controversial measure.

The bill, favored by America's railroads, has run into strong opposition from the coal industry and the nation's water barge operators.

A group of some 50 companies and organizations including barge lines, truckers, mining companies and labor unions, have formed the Antimonopoly Transportation Conference to fight the bill.

Harris told newsmen after the session that there had been a "lot of misunderstanding about the bill." He said he had come to answer questions about it.

He said he had made it clear that his Commerce Committee had no intention of holding more hearings on the bill or adding amendments to it.

Harris also said he received every indication that the Rules Committee would hold public hearings on the bill in the near future. The bill must win approval from the Rules Committee before it can go to the floor of the House.

Rep. Howard W. Smith, D-Va., chairman of the Rules Committee, told newsmen that the committee had taken the rare step of a closed-door preliminary session on the bill because it wanted to "try to get some information" on the bill.

"A lot of people are upset about it," he said.

"But," Smith added, "I don't think I know much more about it than I did when the meeting started."

They Knew Very Little About Bible

By G. K. MODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—A test on the Bible was sprung on five classes of college-bound 11th and 12th graders in a public school.

Some thought Sodom and Gomorrah were lovers; that the Gospels were written by Matthew, Mark, Luther and John; that Eve was created from an apple; and that the stories by which Jesus taught were called parables.

Eighty to 90 per cent of the students could not complete such familiar quotations as: "Many are called, but few are (chosen);" "A soft answer turneth away (wrath);" "They shall beat their swords into (plowshares);" "Pride goeth before a (fall);" and "The love of money is the root of all (evil)."

All this happened in Newton, Mass., and English teacher Thayer S. Warshaw decided to do something about it. He arranged for two of his classes to study the Bible—not as a religious book, or even as literature, but as a source book for the humanities.

Teaching about the Bible in public school can be a tricky business, particularly since the Supreme Court decision on school prayer.

But Warshaw, reporting his experience in the February issue of "The English Journal," believes it is essential.

"The Bible is indeed a religious book, but it is also a part of our secular cultural heritage. To keep it out of the public schools because it is controversial and because the public cannot trust the good sense of both the teacher and the pupil to treat it as part of the humanities is a simple but questionable judgment," Warshaw wrote.

"A knowledge of the Bible is essential to the pupil's understanding of allusions in literature, in music, and in the fine arts; in news media, in entertainment, and in cultural conversation.

"Is he to study mythology and Shakespeare, and not the Bible? Is it important for him to learn what it means when a man is called an Adonis or a Romeo, yet unimportant for him to be able to tell a Jonah from a Judas?"

Warshaw first convinced his pupils of their need for a study of the Bible.

He assigned the reading of a few short stories which made no sense to them because they couldn't understand the Biblical allusions.

He showed them some political cartoons with Biblical references which left them in the dark.

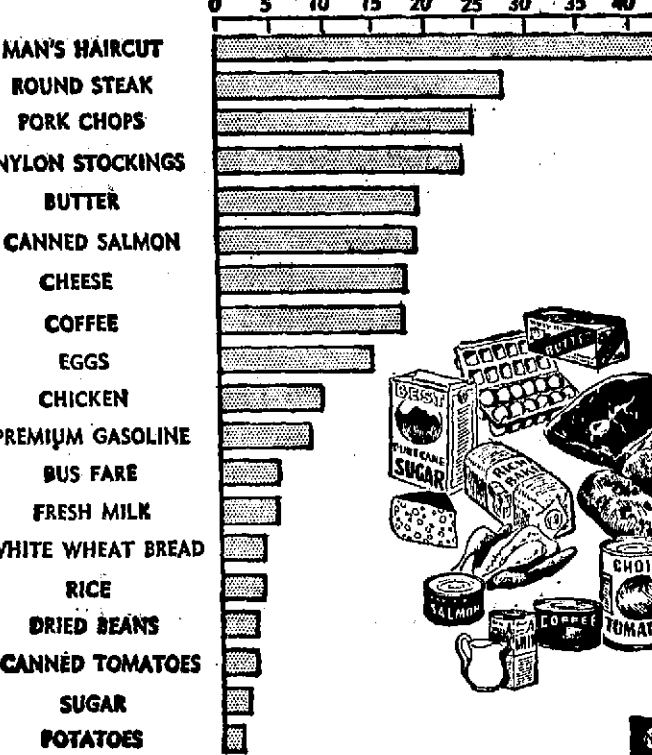

The clincher was the quiz on which they fared so poorly.

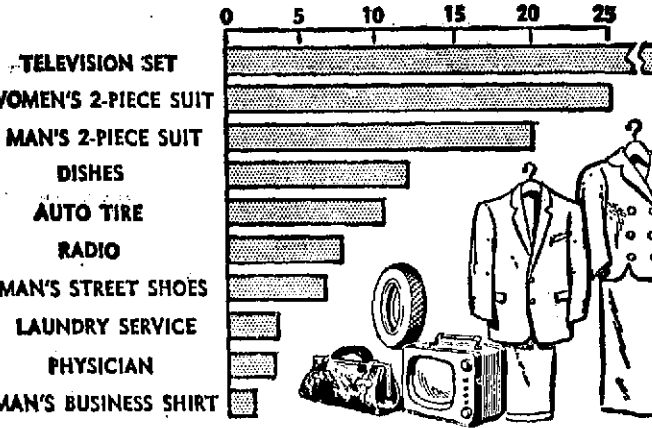

PEACE PIPES AND OTHERS—The American Indians, the world's original tobacco smokers, never saw cigarettes until long after the white man came. They were pipe smokers. Their pipes were made of stone or clay and some, like the one John McCormack of Vincennes, Ind., holds were stemless. A fine pipe was an Indian's proudest possession and he fashioned it to look like a plant or animal or person. All of McCormack's collection of Indian pipes were found in Indiana.

Worktime Required for Consumer Items

MINUTES: SEPT. 1962

HOURS: SEPT. 1962

The American manufacturing worker is spending increasingly less time at work in order to buy consumer goods. Newschart above gives some of these items with present prices compared with 1957. Yet, there are items that require, in the long run, more time; they include such items as steak (28 minutes, up 3 minutes), cheese (18 minutes, up 1 minute), a woman's wool suit (25 hours and 4 minutes, up 5 hours and 35 minutes), and a doctor's house call (3 hours and 25 minutes, up 42 minutes). Clue on How Tax Savings to Be Used

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—A clue to how Americans will use at least part of their additional take-home pay, thanks to the tax cut, is offered today by the new cost of living index.

They'll spend it for more of the things they didn't buy in quantity a few years back.

The Labor Department's new consumer price index also helps clear up another mystery for many citizens: How come the outgo side of the family budget always seems to rise more than the old index said it should?

The new index takes in items that loom large on some family budgets now, but which the old one, as last revised in 1953, ignored. And the new one says that families spend a smaller percentage of their incomes now on such things as food than they did formerly, although eating better; and considerably more on other goods or services than they did when personal incomes were smaller.

Since the price of food hasn't gone up as much in recent years, as has the cost of many goods and services not thought of as necessities, the new way of calculating the cost of living gives a clue to where the money goes—for new goods and services, or more of those once thought of as luxuries or now-and-then items.

And since Americans have tended in recent years to put any extra income into such upgrading of living standards, the additional take-home pay may well add to the volume of such spending. Whether this increased demand will affect prices or charges remains to be seen.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics says the cost of food has risen 6 per cent in the last 10 years. If your grocery bill has gone up more than that, the bureau suspects that is because you now buy higher quality meats and vegetables, which naturally cost more than economy grades; and that you spend much more for convenience, precooked or otherwise processed food. Also there are a lot of new food items, or new versions of old items, that tempt you.

Even so, the bureau holds that the percentage of the family budget spent for food has slipped from 28.18 in 1953 to 22.43 today. The new index thus won't be affected as much by the changes in prices of various foods as in the past.

The items in today's family budget to which the government gives more emphasis include housing, with hotel and motel rates newly added, up to 33.23 per cent from 30.17; transportation, to 13.88 per cent from 11.65, with autos and car servicing accounting for most of the increase; health and recreation up to 19.45 per cent from 18.03.

Some of the new spending habits the government now acknowledges are parking fees, college tuition, outboard motors, moving expenses, golf fees, legal aid, funeral services, and between-meal snacks.

"Alfred Hitchcock Presents," dropped by CBS from next season's schedule, will return to NBC, replacing the "Eleventh Hour."

Talk With Bette Davis Fast, Furious

By DAVE SMITH

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—If you're new to the Hollywood beat, you don't just walk up to Bette Davis and say "Hi, Bette. What's up?"

Before you ever get within gunshot of her house, her manager asks what you want to talk to her about and then he'll see "if she can find time."

So you wonder—"What'll she do, pull the Baby Jane bit and roast me over a slow fire if I sound stupid?"—and you make up something that sounds half bright. He reports to headquarters, she finds time, and you are brought in, as if on a tray, to be made a meal of.

You needn't have worried. A conversation with Miss Davis is fast, furious and friendly. It starts before you even get in the room, runs hell-for-leather while you're there and continues until you're halfway up the driveway. Only you wind up talking about everything but what you went there for.

Method acting, for instance. "Stanislavsky was essentially right, of course," she says. "An actor must have a method. But there are method actors today who've strayed far from what Stanislavsky meant. They are so subjective in a role, they impose their personal selves upon it so much, that they create virtually a different play every night, according to how they feel."

"They work so hard at being the character that they lose their audience right away."

"Real theater cannot merely

Flee Communism a Second Time

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A refugee who arrived from Cuba Wednesday said it was the second time he had fled communism.

"I left China when I was 17, after communism killed my parents," said Amado Pon Yuitin, 29, one of 24 fugitives reaching Miami by small boats from Cuba. "Now I have left communism again."

Yuitin owned an ice cream parlor in Camaguey and had become a Cuban citizen.

The meeting was seen here as a follow-up to the pan-Arab summit conference in January. That meeting decided envoys should be sent to all countries maintaining diplomatic relations with the Arab countries to urge support for the return of Palestine refugees to their lands in Israel.

Israel Target of Arab Meet

CAIRO (AP) — Delegations from the 13 Arab nations met Wednesday to discuss a worldwide diplomatic offensive against Israel.

Flu Epidemic in Yugoslavia be life. It must make the link between the life in the play and the life in the audience, so that your audience can identify and sympathize with it.

"And you must remember that the audience is a vital part of the experience of real theater. You must not make a role so private and personal that you forget you have an audience to play to, project to and be responsible to."

By this time Miss Davis, who is 5-foot-3½ and weighs 122 pounds, seems to have swelled to about five times her normal size, so that she dominates the room from passionate heights.

You ask, "Okay, so what's your method?" and she deflates gradually, sinks back in her chair, lights a cigarette and spits out: "Oh, I just do it. I don't bleed and die, I just do it. And pray to God."

A mounting pile of cigarette butts moves you to comment on the U.S. surgeon general's smoking report.

"I think I'd die if I quit," she says, dismissing the smoking report with a toss of the head.

"Twice I tried to quit. Instead I knit. Which I hated. But it's the hands, you see. I've got to have something for them to do. So I smoke."

Miss Davis is noted for more than the vehemence of her smoking, however. Her clipped, declarative style of speaking is so popular a subject of parody that unless you can do a Bette Davis imitation you're practically dead in show biz.

Does she mind the imitations? "No. In fact, I used to worry that I wasn't impressive enough to be imitated, and I was relieved when they started. Only now some of the imitators imitate other imitators instead of me."

That Man in Washington Bit Again

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Last September when the U.S. State Department was busy arranging a three-day state visit of Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia, NBC was almost as busy preparing a report on the etiquette of a state visit.

The report, "Our Man In Washington," was shown Tuesday night.

NBC cameras were in State Department offices when Angier Biddle Duke, in charge of protocol, discussed final details with the Ethiopian ambassador.

Cameras were in the royal train as it drew up to the Washington station platform and a formal reception complete with a 21-gun salute.

Cameras were in the kitchens during preparations for a lavish State Department luncheon. They were behind the bar at the emperor's $9,000, 1,000-guest reception for official Washington.

Cameras were trained on President John F. Kennedy, looking healthy and tanned, as he received the emperor.

Sight of the late president was a damper to this viewer on the rest of the light-hearted program.

It was one of David Brinkley's occasional specials. Perhaps because of the presence of Kennedy, he seemed rather restrained in his comment.

Brinkley does have a keen eye for detail. He noted the care used to hang Ethiopian flags right side up — because they become Bolivian flags when upside down. His cameras lingered lovingly on bartenders' agile hands, on platters of meatballs and shrimps at the cocktail party, on the pastry gun making icing rosettes on a cake.

A touching moment was recorded after the emperor, an admirer of Abraham Lincoln, had laid a silver wreath at the Lincoln Memorial. As an interpreter translated the Gettysburg Address, tears were clearly visible in the sovereign's eyes.

"Our Man In Washington" made magnificent use of color. For those who saw the program in all its glory it was a most interesting 60 minutes. For others it must have dragged frequently. There was a marked tendency to linger overlong, like impolite guests, at the receptions and parties.

"Alfred Hitchcock Presents," dropped by CBS from next season's schedule, will return to NBC, replacing the "Eleventh Hour."

Increases Bring Usual Jitters

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Rising prices of coffee and gyrations in the price of sugar mean more to the average family than increased prices of steel and aluminum products. And so do any boosts in commutation or other transportation costs and any increase in medical fees or hospital insurance.

So nervous over a possible widespread increase in the price of goods and services is being evidenced increasingly. Nor does it help to learn that Britain, having prospered mightily after a cut in taxes, is now threatened with inflation, as are the increasingly affluent economies of many Continental European nations.

The United States also is trying a tax cut to boost economic growth. And the pundits, both on Capitol Hill and in banking and industry, are assessing its possible effects on the prices of commodities. These have stayed remarkably stable in recent years.

The upward trend in the cost of living has been traced rather to the increased charges for services and the greater costs of distribution of goods.

The Joint House-Senate Economic Committee is of two minds about the effect of the American tax cut. The 11.5-billion slash, meaning additional consumer buying power, will just boost economic growth but won't set off another inflationary trend—so says the Democratic majority.

The Republican minority says the size of the cut is "likely to result in a buildup of inflationary pressures."

If this pressure develops it could come from several things. A big buying spree could build up demand for goods to a point where industries currently regulated by competition would be free to raise prices.

Or the pressure could come from labor's announced intentions to ask for larger pay increases this year inspired at least in part by the jump in 1963 corporate profits—put at 10 per cent over 1962, with the increase in the 1963 fourth quarter over the third coming to 22 per cent.

Wage increases, tied in with greater buying demand, might result in higher production costs being passed along to the consumer in the form of higher prices.

Finally, those who fear inflation charge that the price-wage spiral might be given an additional whirl by government financial policies. What is feared is a combination of tax cuts, increased government spending, Treasury deficits, and easy money policies that could spell monetary inflation. The argument is that any marked increase in the supply of money and credit could inspire price boosts and wage demands, eventually wiping out any advantages from cutting federal income tax rates.

All About Dogs

Putting Pooch in the Picture

Dogs always seem to strike the best poses when you don't have a camera handy. But it's not necessary to turn your living room into a full-time photo studio to get good quality pet photos. In fact, an elaborate setup would probably be confusing to both pet and picture taker.

A casual approach is best, unless your dog is a pedigreed pooch who just walked off with a blue ribbon," says Clarence C. Fawcett of the Purina Dog Care Center, St. Louis, Mo.

A little preparation is necessary, however, because dogs—especially pups—will probably grow restless while you're reading the light meter and setting lens openings and shutter speeds. It's a good idea to do these things during a dry run. Then take a breather before the real thing.

Indoors or out, a general rule is: Dark dogs against light backgrounds; dark backgrounds for light dogs. A white dog in a snow bank could make an artful, prize-winning photograph if the photographer really knows his stuff.

As a rule, the best dog photos are snapshots taken in even, natural light. Shadows—unless carefully controlled—rarely add much to the print. Outdoors, a bright, slightly overcast day is best. If the sun is very bright, work in a spot where the light is filtered.

Acquitted of Illegal Vote

MORRILTON, Ark. (AP) — Circuit Judge P. E. Dobbs acquitted Billy Joe Swain of Royal Oak, Mich., Tuesday of a charge of illegal voting.

Lt. Gov. Nathan Gordon, a defense attorney, said Swain moved from Conway County to Michigan in 1952. He registered for the draft in 1954 in Conway County, had paid his poll tax, and had properly filed his absentee ballots since then.

He is a legal resident of the county and has an interest in an estate in the county, Gordon said.

Robert S. Barnhart of Detroit, an FBI agent, told Dobbs that Swain had admitted to voting in Arkansas and in Michigan. Dobbs said the statement was not admissible as evidence until the state had proved an illegal voting charge against Swain.

The case did not go to the jury. Bean said the prosecution did not prove it had a case against Swain.

Finds Line Fed Into Septic Tank

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — The city is preparing a refund for Leo E. Torres Jr., who has paid a monthly $1.05 sewer service charge since August, 1961.

Plumbers discovered Monday that the sewer lines from Torres' house fed into a private septic tank.

A broadcast said that when the Indus Valley road is completed, a direct land route will be established between Rawalpindi in Pakistan's new capital area, and Peking via Gilgit in northern Kashmir.

U.S. Tax Cut Benefits to Start Thurs.

By ROGER LANE

NEW YORK (AP) — Federal tax cut benefits will show up in paychecks of millions of Americans starting Thursday.

But the extra money gushing into the nation's spending stream—or savings institutions—probably won't total the $800 million a month estimated by some tax cut backers.

A cross-country Associated Press survey showed a scattering of employees, mostly salaried, had asked that benefits be stored up for them.

Most workers apparently looked forward with relish to a reduction in taxes withheld.

"I want every nickel I can get my hands on to pay my bills," said a Cleveland employee of the Internal Revenue Service.

Employers reported few hitches in adjusting payroll procedures, especially concerns with automated bookkeeping. Basically, they hereafter will withhold 14 per cent of earnings instead of 18 per cent.

"We just changed a few wires in the machine and that was it," said Manley Eubank in Raleigh, N.C. Eubank's Central Data Processing unit runs off paychecks for 10,000 North Carolina state employees.

The $11.5-billion tax cut, largest in U.S. history, provides reductions averaging 19 per cent for 80 million citizens.

"No trouble at all" or "it took only a couple of minutes" were common reports from employers, including such giants as General Motors Corp. with 640,000 employees.

In Salt Lake City, Mountain States Telephone Co. said it was "working frantically" to adjust its equipment. H. J. Heinz Co., with 7,000 employees, said at headquarters in Pittsburgh that its payroll staff was putting in extra work.

In cases such as these, the rub seemed to be in meeting employee requests for some treatment other than reduction in taxes withheld.

In Pittsburgh, Norman Reichert, assistant treasurer at Philco Corp. with a 22,000-man payroll, said he expected some salaried persons to ask for an unchanged withholding level—or for one higher than required by law.

"These people in the past have had larger-than-required sums withheld to avoid payment of a large lump sum amount when it comes time to file their annual tax return," Reichert said.

The Philco official said hourly rated production workers appar-

Syria Minister Loses His Job

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—Air Brigadier Harden Takriti was removed from his posts as Iraq's defense minister and deputy commander-in-chief of the Iraqi armed force Monday night.

The announcement, made in a presidential decree broadcast by Baghdad Radio, gave no reason for the move beyond saying it was warranted by the country's general interest.

Fire Damages NLR Bank

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP) —Fire heavily damaged the Twin City Bank at North Little Rock early today.

All North Little Rock fire fighting units were sent to the scene. Flames poured from the roof. No injuries were reported. Cause of the fire was not determined but a district fire chief said he saw a bolt of lightning strike in the area of the bank just before the alarm came.

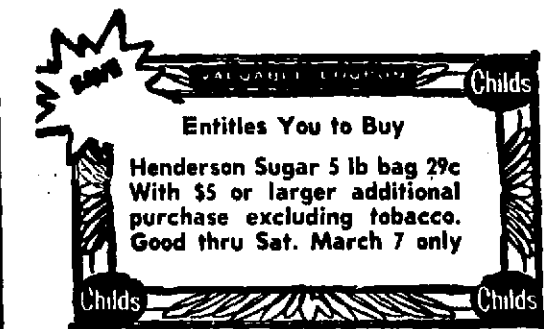

The fire was confined to the bank, one of the older buildings in the business section of North Little Rock.
